

WHAT WOULD YOU DO if you were walking down a familiar street — right in your own home town — and all of a sudden you looked up and saw David Bruce Cassidy, alias “Keith Partridge,” waving to you?! Your heart would probably do super-duper flip-flops as you thought to yourself, This can't be true — I must be dreaming!

Well, not only could it be true — this actually did happen to several thousand lucky teeners in Cleveland, Ohio, this past November! And so you don't miss out on all the fun — come along right now and see just what happened the day that David Cassidy disappeared!

MIDNIGHT FLIGHT

It all began several months ago when David, Susan Dey and Danny Bonaduce were invited to be Grand Marshals of the Thanksgiving Parade in Cleveland. Although Thanksgiving Day was actually Thursday, November 26th, the parade would take place the following Saturday. Many events were planned for the big day. After the parade, David, Susan and Danny were to be guests of honor at a reception to be held at the May Company, the big department store that sponsored the parade along with Cleveland radio station WIXY. In fact, later that same day David, Susan and Danny were also going to visit the radio station and meet many of the deejays. Everyone was excited about all of the scheduled events of the day — but little did anyone guess that — due to some incredible and unforeseen circumstances — some of these plans would have to be changed! But wait — we're getting 'way ahead of the story. Come and see for yourself exactly what did happen!!

The Friday before the parade, right after filming The Partridge Family, David, Susan and Danny — along with Brendan Cahill, the Music Coordinator for the PF gang — headed for Los Angeles International Airport to catch the midnight flight to Cleveland. Due to the time difference between California and Ohio, as well as “flying time”, they arrived in Cleveland about 7 A.M. Saturday. They went straight to their hotel and had only 45 minutes to freshen up and get ready for breakfast. And that was the first clue they had to how hectic this day was going to be!

David, Susan and Danny knew they would be riding in the parade on a genuine old-time fire engine and they were delighted to learn they would be having breakfast with the firemen who would be driving the fire truck in the parade — and the firemen's families! Although the parade actually began at 10 A.M., the PF-ers were number 90 in the long array of floats and wouldn't have to get in line until 12 noon, so the entire group had a leisurely breakfast. (Little did they know then that this was the only rest they would get all day!)

It was a cold, damp day, but David, Susan and Danny didn't seem to feel at all chilly — thanks to the thousands upon thousands of people who turned out to see them. In fact, they couldn't get over the enthusiastic cheers and were truly thrilled by the whole thing! (Remember: this was the very first time David, Susan and Danny had gone on the road together since The Partridge Family went on the air — and they just didn't realize how very popular they are!)

Danny, Susan and David didn't realize how popular they are until several thousand Cleveland teens showed them!

Not only did the PF gang get to ride on an antique fire engine — Danny even got to wear an official fireman's hat!