

DAVID'S WILD WILD WEEKEND!

Fasten your seat belts and get ready for another lightning tour! This time David and I traveled to Dayton, Ohio, Detroit, Michigan, and Canton, Ohio, and met thousands of the nicest people ever. In fact, in some ways, it was nicer than the first concert tour!

The evening before, despite our good intentions about getting to bed early, we were too excited to sleep, and we sat around with some friends and played music until about one-thirty in the morning! It wasn't quite the same as the first tour—we knew more or less what to expect—but there was still a lot of nervous anticipation, especially on David's part. He told me the next morning that he was awake for a couple of hours after we went to bed, just thinking about all the things that could go wrong!

FEARS CAME TRUE

The next morning, it looked like all those bad thoughts might come true. We crawled out of bed at 7:30, feeling like we'd barely closed our eyes. I mixed up a nice health food breakfast—nice things like milk, wheat germ, honey, yeast, banana, strawberries, etc., all mixed in a blender. David stumbled in, looked at my glass, said "yech," and fixed himself a bowl of Life cereal. Our new roommate, Steve, sided with me and had a health-shake.

We left Sam and Sheesh (the dogs) with a friend, and departed for the airport—and then the fears that had kept David awake started coming true! We had no sooner gotten aboard the plane when it started to taxi down the runway, and then gave a terrible lurch and shook madly! We backed right back into the hangar and every-

DAVID AND I ALWAYS GET into crazy moods whenever we're backstage at an arena. You see, David is really nervous inside, but to cover his nervousness, he starts making jokes. Then I join in and before you know it, we're acting like two "nuts"! Below, David eagerly answers questions asked of him at a big press conference in Detroit. No matter what he's asked, David gives his honest opinions on everything!
