Oh happy day! All of you know that David was in the hospital recently, right? Well, I was down on the set for the first time since David's recovery, and he's fit as a fiddle! Although he feels pretty good, he looks even better, having lost almost twenty pounds! Now David weighs a mere one hundred and thirteen! He'll never be able to make cracks about skinny Susan now!

While David was recovering in the hospital, the rest of the Partridges were kept busy. Dave Madden worked on his night-club routines, while Danny Bonaduce went to Atlantic City for a personal appearance at the Steel Pier. After the Pier, Danny and Dave teamed up and visited seven cities on a promotion tour. Danny and Dave both had a good time on the road, and from the looks of Danny, they had plenty of good food on hand! Danny came back to the Partridges a few pounds heavier. But, never fear, young ladies... he's still as cute as ever and now there's more of him to love!

AT HOME ON THE SET

Brian Forster says that he finally feels like a "Partridge."

"I felt like the new guy," he said, "Now, I really feel like part of the show... I know everybody now, and they know me! And when my mom and I drive through the gate, some of the kids out in front recognize me!"

Everyone on the set seems very happy to have Brian on board. I overheard some of the stagehands talking about how professional Brian was on the set. That's quite a compliment... the stagehands are experts!

SUZANNE AND THE DOLPHIN

At the Crough's new home in Woodland Hills, in the back yard, you'll find a blue, blow up toy dolphin for the swimming pool. You're SUPPOSED to be able to ride it in the water, but take my word for it... it's humanly impossible!

Mrs. Crough told me that Suzanne keeps trying to ride it.

"She won't give up until she tames that thing," Anne Crough laughs. "She tries to get on it every day."

I was over at the Crough's last week and had an encounter with the famous blue dolphin myself. I couldn't get that thing to float upright to save my life! I
