

danny spills the beans on

Hi there! It's me again—Danny Bonaduce, red-haired superspy of the Partridge set! Since FaVE asked me to do this article on David and Susan I've really gotten into the spirit of the thing. Maybe if an acting career doesn't work out for me I can become a secret agent!

Actually, though, I'm not very good at sneaking around and overhearing things that people say. Maybe it's because the color of my hair makes me stand out or something. When I get within ten feet of someone having a deep conversation they always look up and say, "Oh, here comes Danny." Well, I could always shave my head or buy a wig, right? I'll have to give the matter some more thought!

NOT HUNG UP ON LOOKS

Anyway, back to David and Susan. I think Susan is a really beautiful girl, don't you? David agrees with me, and when she is wearing something especially nice, he always goes out of his way to compliment her. The funny thing is that Susan is never thinking about how she looks. She never seems to notice if her makeup gets smudged or her hair gets tangled a little. If our makeup man didn't keep after her every minute, she'd forget about it entirely!

David combs his hair more than Susan does. Not because he's vain or anything, but his bangs keep sliding into his eyes and it really bugs him! So he's constantly pushing them out of the way.

But I can't say that either of them are hung up about the way they look. Susan loves the way David dresses, especially when he began wearing those tailored body shirts with his jeans. Both of them prefer casual clothes to getting dressed up. (I prefer them too, because when I get them dirty my mother doesn't have to yell at me for messing them up.)

THEY ARGUE SOMETIMES

As I told you last month, I've never seen David or Susan get mad at each other. But that doesn't mean that they don't argue about things sometimes! What happens is that they start discussing all those grownup type subjects like politics, religion, drugs, etc. (that's usually when I tune out!) and when they disagree the talk gets pretty heated!

The reason for this is that they are both so different as people. David's attitude toward life is "live and let live—do your own thing," while Susan cares a lot about changing things. I don't know who is right, but the end of the argument usually is a draw. That's because they both respect each other's opinions, but so far I can't say that either one has changed the other's ideas yet!