

25. I read somewhere that you are a good surfer. Is this true?

During my first years in high school I used to surf quite a lot. Then I got interested in other things, and now I haven't been on a board for years!

26. Do you like girls with freckles and auburn hair?

Yes, but as one of the biggest girl-watchers around, I'll have to say that I have no preference for hair or eye color. It's the girl that matters!

27. What type of acting do you prefer: drama, comedy or musicals? Also, would you like to do a movie someday? When I first began, I thought dramatic acting was the greatest. Although I still love the challenge of a serious role, I now realize that comedy is just as difficult, and so is doing musical numbers. While I can't tell you I like one better than the other, I think I would love to do a musical-comedy movie!

28. What would you call a perfect date?

A perfect date to me would be being with someone I liked a lot who enjoyed being with me too, doing anything or nothing as long as it fit our mood of the moment. That could cover anything from going out to dinner to just watching the fire at my place!

29. What kinds of presents do you like to receive from fans?

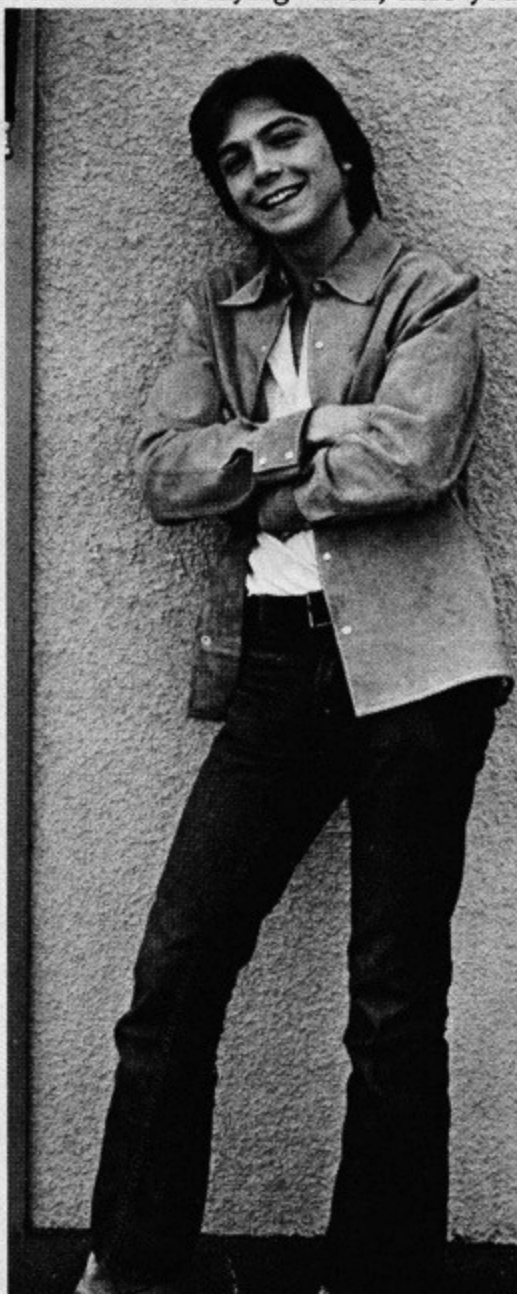

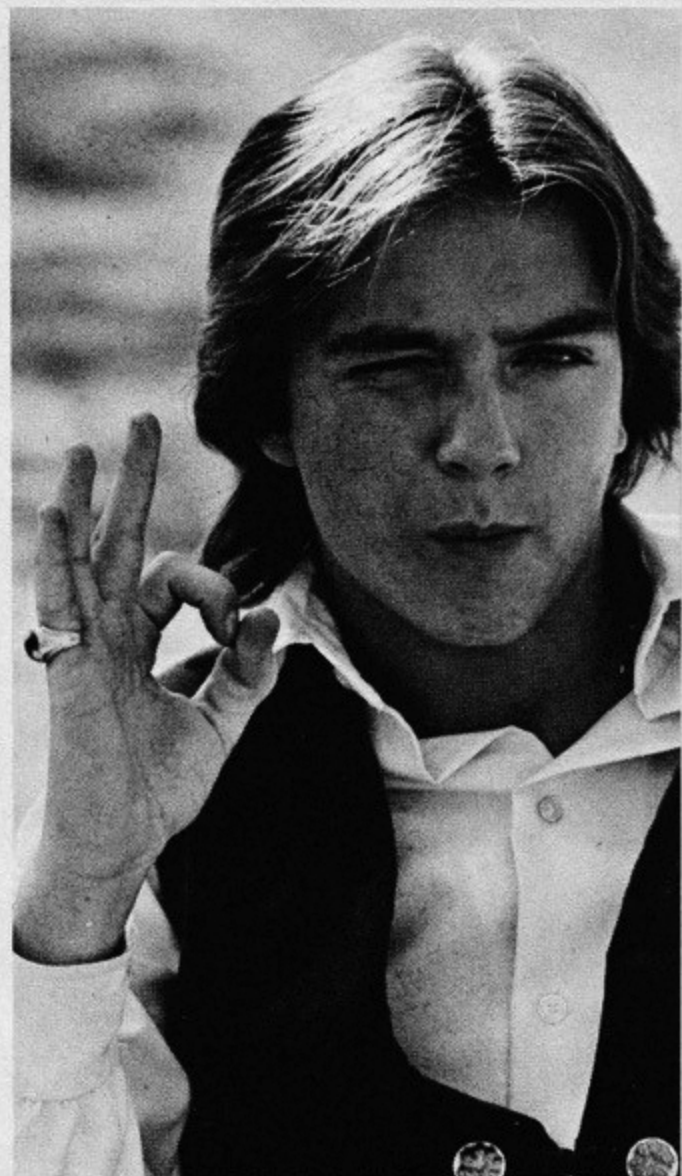

I've received some nice candles and posters, and I like them, but what I like most are presents the fans have made themselves. It really gives me an idea of what that person is like. I really feel bad when I receive an expensive gift from a fan. I don't like it when they go out and spend their money on me. I'd much rather have an inexpensive, hand-made, creative gift that someone put some thought into.

30. What happens to you when you fall in love? How do you react?

I've never fallen in love. Twice I thought I had, and it was a great feeling, but both times I ended up being hurt. That was a long time ago, though, it hasn't happened to me in a few years. I feel like I push away chances, because I'm afraid I'll be hurt again.

31. What is your concept of love?

You know, that's like asking someone about chocolate cake when they haven't eaten it. They have an idea—it looks brown. But they don't really know, until they've tasted it. I have a picture in my mind of what it's like. All I know is how I feel about someone that I dig. I don't know if there is such a thing as "in love." I have a feeling that it is a feeling that just grows. There's no line saying "Well, here you like someone very, very, very much and over here you love someone a little." There's no dividing line. I think you just are or you aren't.

32. Is there an exciting task you'd like to undertake if you had more free time? Yes, I'd like to travel by myself for a while. I'd like to travel around the world for about a year.

33. Like with a pack on your back?

Yes, I would like to do that for part of the time, but I wouldn't want to go the whole trip with a sleeping bag on my back. I'd just like a chance to be alone, have no telephone calls, no one to answer to, just go and meet people and not have to worry about anything. Just be responsible for my own eating and sleeping and that's all!

34. Have you ever been outside the United States?

Yes, I've been to Mexico and Canada, and off the mainland when I went to Hawaii. But I've never been to Europe.

35. Is there any food you especially liked or disliked as a child?

I never liked lima beans. I never found them too attractive! Rice pudding and tapioca are two things I can't stand.

36. Were there any foods you really loved as a child?

I'm trying to think what really is my favorite food. My grandmother made the best dressing (best turkey dressing)
