

HIM -BE HIS GIRL

DAVID CASSIDY is the one boy in the world who can choose almost any girl he wants from the millions who adore him. But, oddly enough, David would never abuse that kind of "power". In fact, David usually chooses to be with the girl he is with. It works very simple and it goes a little something like this.

Though David loves girls, he has no particular dream girl in mind. He definitely has no steady girl though, as he puts it, "Now that I'm a regular on a TV series, I'm bound to be accused of going steady with this one or that one. But I really don't have a steady girl. I love all kinds of girls. I especially like to meet new girls and get to know them. And I plan to be that way for quite a few years to come."

Though David isn't choosy, there are a few ground rules that you must follow if you want to be his girl. Let David himself spell them out for you.

"At the risk of repeating myself," David says with a winsome smile, "the first and most important thing in any relationship is total honesty. No matter how much I like a girl, I can never keep on liking her if I find out that she deceived me even in the smallest way. There's an expression that we use in LA called 'plastic' — and I hate plastic people. Plastic people are phony, greedy and just out for themselves and what they can get."

"Secondly," David continues, "I like girls who are girls — really girls all the way through. Some guys insist that a girl have long, blonde hair, short, dark hair or whatever. Coloring, height, weight and all that are secondary to me. I guess the best way you could put it is that I like feminine girls."

Other requisites that David includes in his "musts" are that a girl be warm, friendly and outgoing without being boisterous, demanding or attention-attracting. He loves bright girls, but by that he doesn't mean "intellectual" girls. He means bright as in shining and sparkling. He can't stand girls who play dumb, who are snobbish, who name drop or who are celebrity hounds or who dig him (or any performer, for that) just because they are in show business.

If you go out on a date with David and he asks you what you would like to do, you'd be very smart to say, "Why don't we have a quiet dinner together?" For David loves quiet tete-a-tete dinners in candlelit restaurants that have lots of atmosphere. He loves to have long, rambling conversations about any subject that the two of you might want to discuss and David also digs listening to music — especially the latest good, hard rock records.

But David is also capable of sitting in silence sharing a beautiful view watching the sun set or just holding hands and dreaming quietly.

In other words, when you're with David, you don't have to be on the go go all the time. You can be yourself, be natural, be real and most of all — be totally honest.
