

FLASHES CONTINUED

HANLEY to see how she's getting along in her role as a housewife. She's doing very well, she informed me, and has learned so many things. Her latest discovery has to do with her garbage. She's been burying it in-between the rows in her garden to use as a fertilizer for the soil. "It's really the best fertilizer there is!" she proudly proclaimed. "In addition, the earthworms are attracted to it and by wriggling beneath the surface of the ground, they turn over the earth as they burrow along! My garden already looks so much better and things are growing gigantic!"... DAVID CASIDY will be writing some of the songs you'll be hearing on the "Partridge Family." He tells me he's been jotting down tunes and lyrics for some time now, just because he likes to, and now he'll be able to use them... During the hiatus from "The Partridge Family" SUZANNE CROUGH took the opportunity to enroll in public school. She lives right across the street from Dr. Peter Marshall school and likes to mix with the children. JEREMY

JULE ANDERSON tutors the young "Partridge" co-stars in-between filming.

SUZANNE likes public school too!

GELBWAKS enrolled in public school also for the duration of the hiatus but DANNY BONADUCE decided that now that he could have the studio tutor to himself, he'd rather have school with her!... In closing we'd like to pay tribute to the great soul-rock musician, JIMI HENDRIX, who died at the young age of 24. He made his first popular breakthrough in the film "Monterey Pop," and quickly gathered a huge following. He was also featured in "Woodstock." JIMI was a brilliant guitarist, writer and performer and those of us who knew him have lost a truly great musician!
