

DAVID CASSIDY
INVITES YOU FOR
BACHELOR PAD!

Ever wonder what it would be like to be David Cassidy's house guest? Well, here's your chance! David has opened the door of his Hollywood Hills home in California to all MOVIE LIFE readers. As you can tell from these pix, it's quite a groovy looking pad—a bachelor's dream come true. David rented the house in toto—furnishings and all—which seems to suit him just fine. According to his stepmom, Shirley Jones, David's last place was furnished ". . . in orange boxes and apple crates." But David had a valid explanation. "Who has time to go shopping for furniture?" he laughed.

Visiting time is upon us—David is standing by the entrance to his house smiling warmly, beckoning us to enter. Here we come, David, here we come!

First off, David gives us a tour of the dining room. Take a gander at that fantastic looking chandelier—and that table. Wouldn't it be great having dinner there, just you and this handsome guy. Who knows, maybe some day! . . .

Is David going to sing a song just for us? He is! The 21-year-old teen-age idol takes us to his favorite corner of
