

DAVID CASSIDY: "I DON'T WANT TO BECOME ANOTHER BOBBY SHERMAN!"

By ANNA LIFFEY

■ "David doesn't like the teenybopper scene. He's really more of a loner at heart," Jack Cassidy explains of his son David who, at twenty-one, already is so successful that he has thousands of little girls all over the country in love with his impishly handsome face. "I told him," Jack continues, "he'd better change. 'You're in the wrong business, Charley,' I told him, 'if you don't like the girls bugging you.'" Well, David has absolutely no objections to girls bugging him, but the whole teen idol scene, which David latched onto with his Partridge Family role, has meant a tremendous amount of responsibility for David, and

Although good pals, Bobby and David do not see eye to eye on some things—like adoring fans!
