

Week, "The Day They Took The Babies Away." The flick is a real change for Mike, as it's set in the future!

Jonathan Frid will be shedding his Barnabas fangs to star in an off-Broadway production as Thomas Becket. Too many people forget what a solid acting background Jon has, and he's sure to be a smash. I hope the rumors that "Dark Shadows" may be cancelled aren't true, though, because it's a great show and I'm sure you'll agree that there'll never be another vampire like Jonathan Frid!

Those of you who groove on the sounds of Country Joe and the Fish better make a note to see the newly released movie, "Zachariah." Starring in the film is Don Johnson, whose last flick, "The Magic Garden of Stanley Sweetheart" may have passed you by because of its X rating.

"This film is for everybody," raved Don when he came by our offices last week, "and I'm really proud of it!" The very good-looking blond actor is now cutting his first album. "I started out as a singer," he confided, "and it's nice to get back into it."

One question that you've asked over and over again in letters to FaVE is, "Is there any chance that I could ever become a writer for your magazine?" I'd like to answer this by telling you about the three editors who join me every month in putting FaVE together! Let me introduce:

Sandy Stert, who at 19 is the youngest of our regular writers. Born right here in Hollywood, Sandy's been writing ever since she can remember! "I've always loved it," she says, "and even when I was nine years old I had a ton of pen pals just so I could be writing all the time!"

When she was in high school, Sandy studied journalism and was active on her school paper. During her senior year she got some professional experience by doing a weekly column for a local newspaper. We hired Sandy just over a year ago, following her graduation, and one of the regular monthly features she's responsible for is our popular "Fax on Faves" column. The star she's enjoyed interviewing most so far? "Bobby Sherman," says Sandy, "not only because he was soooo nice and interesting, but I loved his sense of humor!"

A FREQUENT visitor to the Partridge set, Sharon Lee's a big favorite!

Sharon Lee has been with us the longest of the three—two years. She moved to Los Angeles from Brooklyn, New York when she was five, and it was during the time that she attended Long Beach State College with a major in journalism that Sharon decided she'd like to give magazine writing a try. After her graduation she became a Contributing Editor for FaVE. In addition to this, Sharon now also is the Editor of both Tiger Beat Spectacular and the Official Partridge Family magazines!

"I've met so many great people since I started interviewing that it's too hard to choose a favorite," smiles Sharon, "but I'd rate all the Partridge stars and Frank Webb high on the list!"

Liz Dagucon rounds out the writing trio, and the story of how she started working for FaVE is probably the most unusual! "I had just graduated from the University of New Mexico last June," relates Liz, "when my sister Peggy won FaVE's Fly to Hollywood Contest, and I came out with her as her chaperone!"

The timing couldn't have been more perfect, because Liz, who had studied both journalism and education needed a job, and FaVE needed another writer! After her return to New Mexico she sent in samples of her work, and before she knew it, Liz was on her way back to Hollywood!

"I was so nervous about interviewing at first that I can tell you right away that Chris Stone is my favorite!" confesses Liz. "He made me feel like a seasoned reporter, and I'll always be grateful for his consideration!"

As you can see by each of the above stories, if you have talent and a true love for writing, it's not an impossible dream to become a reporter and editor for a magazine like FaVE!

Hey, I'm running out of space again! Before I sign off, I've just got to tell you that we're starting another contest that is the grooviest ever! Want to win a personal check from David Cassidy? Turn to page 19!

Congratulations go to Bridget Hanley who gave birth to a beautiful baby girl March 3rd! She named her Bronwyn, just as she planned!

See you next month!

AN EARLY INTEREST in writing got Sandy Stert started on her career in journalism. Now she's friendly with many of today's stars, like Bobby!
