

but a studio gate—Columbia Ranch! I wanted to reach out to somebody—and although it seemed impossible, I wanted to talk to you, David!

When you drove through the gates, the other girls went up to you, but I stayed back—afraid! You looked up and beckoned to me, and I slowly walked towards your car. By the time I was standing near you, you had already signed the other girls' books. I don't know how you recognized my need to talk to you—but you did! Just looking into your eyes, I realized that you knew I was lonely. Before you left, you said "If you have hope—things are sure to get better!" Then you squeezed my hand and drove away!

As I watched your car, my heart seemed to suddenly start pumping again... as if it had been dead... and now it was alive! I had let my homesickness and self-pity completely take over my heart! I was so full of loneliness that no other emotion could touch me. But now I have room for hope, and I have you to thank for it, David!

Your advice, whether you know it or not, could help many girls. Too many people have closed their hearts to hope—and now perhaps after reading this, they will let the magic of hope touch their lives—as it has touched mine—through you. Thank you, David!

Love,
Jenny
