I would love to hear from you!

It's been a happy month, with lots of good things happening to people we all like! Let's start off with Bobby Sherman's great news! He's just finished guest-starring in "The Partridge Family" where he plays their songwriter. You'll see this show in the next couple of months, so watch for it! But that's not the greatest thing! His guest role is a spinoff for Bobby's own new TV series which begins this fall, where he'll continue being a young songwriter. How lucky can we get!

On to Bridget Hanley's great news: She will become a mother in February!

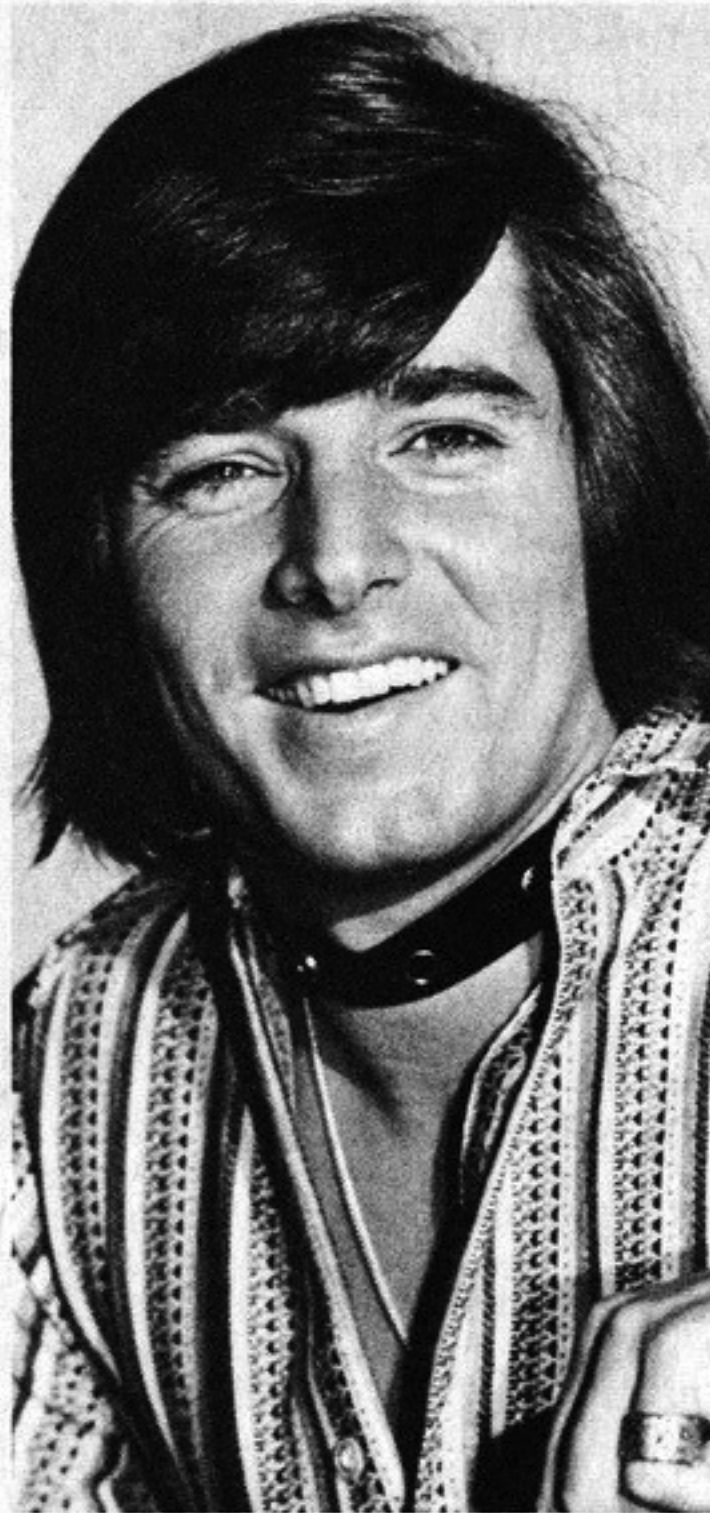

We were having lunch together when she told me, and although she was six months pregnant, I was bowled over! "Everybody is surprised," she laughed, "because Swack and I have kept it a secret until now!" Bridget was still so slim that she was wearing a beautiful lime green dress that she had from her trousseau!

"Nobody knew I was expecting when I played a clown on 'The Interns,'" she confided, "and it's a lucky thing that they used a double on some of the jumping scenes!" Because of her impending arrival, Bridget has had to turn down offers to star in two TV pilots, a feature film and a Broadway show!

"I've always been so ambitious," she said, "but the funny thing is that now I couldn't care less, even though my very fondest dream is to do a Broadway show!" And she looks so radiantly happy I knew she meant every word of it!

"If the baby is a girl," Bridget went on, "we've decided to call her Bronwyn, but we can't decide on a boy's name!" She is staying on the safe side by having the baby's room painted a bright lemon yellow!

Bridget's not a girl to let anything keep her sitting still, and right this minute she's on location with Swack in Arizona while he's directing a film starring Bill Cosby. "We'll get back home just in time for our little one to arrive, and I've never been more excited in my life!"

HIS NEW TV SERIES has Bobby and fans smiling! Untitled as yet, we know it'll follow "The Partridge Family!"

I think she's going to have one of the luckiest babies in the world, don't you?

More happy moments were shared this month with those fabulous Osmonds, when I went to watch them rehearsing and taping their TV special, "He's My Brother!" They were working on a dance number when I walked in, and I couldn't figure out why they were all wearing what looked like white bandages wrapped around their knees!

"They keep us from getting bruised," Alan informed me, demonstrating a knee slide that took him across the floor! It's hard to believe that all this singing and dancing talent comes naturally, but it does! For the Elvis Presley number they do (with exact replicas of Elvis' famous Las Vegas costume done by the same designer), they worked with the same choreographer Elvis used. It really stopped the show at the taping, and I do hope that you got to see the special when it aired this month!

There's more TV in the future for the Osmonds, too, because they just signed to star in a Robert Goulet special! Plus this, there is still talk of spinning off a series from the "Brother" show, so keep your fingers crossed! (More on the Osmonds on page 47!)

The Hager Twins, who took time off from "Hee Haw" to guest on the Os-

ALL AGLOW with excitement about her new baby, Bridget has put aside all her career plans for the moment!
