

Dear FLIP,

I just wanted to write in and thank you for being the very first magazine in which I have seen a full page pic on Cory Wells. When I saw that beautiful pin-up, I almost walked into a counter at the store. Then, when I finally got home, I woke up my baby cousin and had everybody thinking I had gone insane! But seriously, now, thanks so much, and I sincerely pray that it won't be the end of seeing him and the other members of 3-Dog Night in your mag.

Dear FLIP,

This is the first time I've written you and will I ever be thrilled to see if this letter is printed! Right off, I'd like to thank you for the beautiful gift you gave your readers. When I saw twelve whole pages of David Cassidy and the Partridge gang in the December issue, I flipped! David: If you ever have a fever to go somewhere, why not come to my hometown—you're quite welcome!!

Dear FLIP,

I'm writing to you about David Cassidy. I think he's a living doll. A good-looking guy. And a groovy person, too! If I had a chance to get married to David I would!

Dear FLIP,

Happiness is:

Discovering Micky Dolenz;
Micky discovering Samantha;
Discovering they got married;
Discovering they were blessed with Ami.

Sadness is:

Discovering magazines that don't write anything good on the couple!

Dear FLIP,

Knock, knock.

Who's there?

Guess!

Guess Who! They're fantastic. Their music is heavy as well as other nice words. Just because they're Canadians, don't let that scare you off. That's like not reading FLIP because it's from New York!

Dear FLIP,

Just have to say that your pic of Len Whiting in the December issue was scrumptuous! I was so surprised it took my breath away. I exclaimed, "Oh, a pic of Len, finally a pic of Len." I have been buying FLIP hoping to see more of him. He's been my fav ever since he first came to the U.S., which is about three years ago!

Dear FLIP,

I really appreciate those two articles you have written on Rick Ely. I don't think I've missed "Young Rebels" since it's come on, and I don't plan to anytime in the near future. He seems so human, unlike any other star you have written about. He's so open and honest and seems to be able to talk freely to people, even a reporter. Please! Don't build him up with things like "What do you like in girls?" or "What's your favorite food?" Just let him say what he feels.

Dear FLIP,

What's happened to all those people who used to write FlipFlap just to say Elvis was an old fashioned has-been and tell how much they hated him?? They've stopped writing because some of the stars they thought were so hot have faded into oblivion and Elvis is still turning out hit records and still has millions of fans. He's still King! So let that be a lesson to anyone who feels like putting Elvis down. If and when your star falls, Elvis will still be on top. The others come and go but Elvis will always be on top, because Elvis fans will be fans forever!

Dear FLIP,

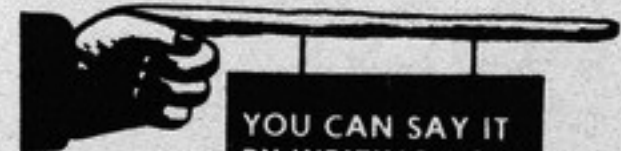

Oh, is Cory Wells (January FLIP) ever beautiful!

Dear FLIP,

Thank you, thank you! A million times thank you! I love you, I really do! If you want to know why I say all this, it is because you did a whole two page spread on darling, wonderful, handsome, beautiful Philippe Forquet! All through the article I was making cries of joy, happiness and pleasure! You're the first mag to put something of Philippe in, so please keep up the good work!
