

WHY YOU'RE SPECIAL TO ME!

by David Cassidy

Just the other day I was sitting alone in my dressing room at Columbia Ranch and I started thinking about YOU! I closed my eyes and could almost hear your voice in my ear and see your beautiful smile before me. You know, you're very special to me—and here's why!

... You're usually sunny and bright and very positive and if you feel depressed you try extra hard not to show it.

... You don't wear too much make-up and you wear lovely flowing dresses and look simply beautiful and even when you show up in Levis and a tee-shirt you look beautiful in that too!

... You wouldn't be embarrassed to ask the waiter for a bone for my dogs Sam and Sheesh. You'd treat them almost like they were your dogs too, and I like that because they mean a lot to me.

... You speak softly and when you laugh it sounds just like music to my ears. You're very feminine and you love being a girl.

... You can tell when a person needs someone to lean on and somehow you're always there at the right time.

... You're gentle and understanding and so very kind to people you meet. You make everyone feel special — especially me!

... You know when to talk and when to just sit there looking pretty.

... You might not feel like smiling, but you would anyway, knowing it would cheer me up from the "Monday morning blues."

... If you've just dented the fender of your car or fallen over on your bike and cracked all the eggs you were carrying from the store, or you didn't get the job or the grade or the part you wanted, you would run over and cry very hard on my shoulder and not try to pretend you didn't really care.

... You stand up straight and show off your figure, even if you don't look like Raquel Welch.

... When you go for a ride in a car and the windows are open you don't really mind if your hair gets all messed up!

... You'd think it was funny if we were going out for a steak dinner and suddenly I
