Dear David:

You aren't in any danger of being drafted, are you? That would be horrible!

Anne—Los Angeles, Calif.

Dear Anne:

I had a very high number in the draft lottery, and so I knew I wouldn't get drafted. But still it was a great relief when January 1, 1971 rolled around and they hadn't called me. So now I'm no longer eligible unless we have a full-fledged war, which hopefully we won't.

Dear Rick:

Please tell me what day you were born on. I've heard both May 4th and May 5th. Which one is it?
Rickie—Lexington, Nebr.

Dear Rickie:

I know there's been some confusion about my birthday, and I would like to clear it up. I was born on May 4th. When were you born?

Rick Ely

Dear David:

I would like to know if the church used on the January 1st segment of "The Partridge Family" (the one about the folk singer) was the same church used on "Here Comes the Brides."

Pam—Danbury, Iowa

Dear Pam:

Wow! You were really paying attention, weren't you! You're right, it was the same church. (Ed. Note: If you were watching, you could have spotted that same church on an episode of "The Young Rebels," too!)

Dear David:

I've got to know 'cause it's driving me crazy! How is your dog's name spelled? So far I've seen it spelled "Sheesh," "Sheish," "Shish" and a few other ways. How do you spell it?

Sally—Elyria, Ohio

Dear Sally:

Yeah, I've seen it spelled a lot of different ways, too, but it's supposed to be "Sheesh," and she's actually my roommate's dog. My dog is a male named Sam.
