

THAT'LL BE THE DAY

(Song by Tony Romeo)

When the chains around me
No longer ground me
And my soul can sail away
To a better life
That'll be the day
We should be together like the sand and sea
Like the rocks in the sunshine go together
With the grass on the summer ground
The leaves on the tree like the sheep in the meadow
Go together like the words and the music
The bite and the bee
Like the work and the pay
That'll be the day
That'll be the day
And when those feelings I've hidden
Are no longer forbidden
And our love is here to stay
Then we'll all shine on
That'll be the day
That'll be the day

SHE'D RATHER HAVE THE RAIN

(Song by Terry Cashman and T. D. West)

Can't get her out of my mind
I see her face wherever I go
She didn't say it—but I know
She doesn't love me
I thought that I was King
She didn't want to play my game
If I had the sun to give her in the morning,
She'd rather have the rain—
Than anything I could give her
I'd give her anything—
That you would care to name
She'd rather have the rain
Today I have to realize
That every dream just can't come true
I know there's nothing I can do
To make her want me
I could take the sun from heaven
Tie it to a silver chain
Bring it so it shines upon her thru the morning
She'd rather have the rain—
Than anything I could give her
I'd give her anything—
That you care to name
She'd rather have the rain
When you need somebody
You want to give her everything
And it hurts she doesn't hear
The song that you sing
She'd rather have the rain—
She'd rather have the rain
