

right or wrong.

Of course, if anyone thought there was real danger we are sure they would step in and persuade him to slow down right now. They all love him and are concerned about him.

Meantime, in New Jersey, thousands of anxious fans are waiting for David to show up. The tickets for his evening performance sold out within an hour or so of going on sale. Which is why, after a hasty consultation with his managers, an afternoon performance was scheduled on the same day, August 14, because there were so many fans clamoring for tickets.

David went back to work on the "Partridge Family" after donating his thousands of gifts and flowers to children in the hospital.

He is also scheduled to do a Glen Campbell show and do his concerts as planned. We hope this very nice young man stays well and we are worrying unnecessarily.

Perhaps later on David will have time to take a vacation and get a well deserved rest. We want David to stay around for a long time!

THE END

were married in Las Vegas a town Ann Margret describes as her favorite, "I love the action there." They have been extremely happy since then, nothing has in anyway tarnished their almost perfect marriage, other than the jealousy Roger shows at the mention of Ann's past.

There were many men in Ann's past, few meant anything. She was linked with Dean Martin, Elvis Presley and Frank Sinatra. They all in their own way did mean something to Ann. It was her romance with Elvis that captured the fancy of the public. Elvis met Ann when she sang—the Academy Awards, soon she was his co-star in a film. Soon it was apparent, "The King" had a new queen. She seemed to be the ideally suited girl for him. She loved his music, his sense of humor and most of all his innate shyness. Their courtship was followed avidly by the press, which indirectly caused the end of their torrid affair. According to Ann, "I just couldn't turn around without someone asking me if I was going to marry Elvis. We were good friends, but the question of marriage hadn't come up. It was just too much, we both felt the best thing to do was to just separate, and see what would happen. For me Roger happened, for Elvis Pris."

Men have always played a large part in Ann Margret's career development. If one wanted to trace back Roger Smith's reasons for jealousy, it probably would be attributed to the importance other men had on Ann's career rather than her love life. Roger who has just about devoted himself to hand shaping Ann's career has to acknowledge that other men have helped Ann also.

The first man to help Ann was George Burns, he spotted her while she was singing with a small group on the outskirts of Las Vegas. Burns heard on the grapevine that there was a real beauty singing in this fraternity type nite-club. He had been searching for someone to join him in his famous act. He says, "I was expecting to see another
