

THE SECURITY GUARDS are everywhere and David hardly ever has an opportunity to say hi to fans.

Of course David isn't one to make a scene like the Stones were, so he just shrugged and said, "Ok, let's go." We all went back to the hotel and we were feeling pretty bad as well as hungry. Finally we stopped by the hotel coffee shop before going to our rooms. We had to get something into our stomachs!

By then we were all a bit tired and grouchy, but once we were seated and had ordered some food, we began to laugh about it. But you know, even in the hotel coffee shop we didn't get to eat right away, but for a different reason!

One of the waitresses recognized David and asked for his autograph for her little girl and before we could count to ten, a dozen more people were waiting in line!

David signed all the autographs but he was sort of down the rest of the night because his mom, actress Evelyn

Ward, was along that time and he had wanted to take her out to a good meal in a nice restaurant after the show. David's mom is just so proud of him. Just like you and me are!

I'm really looking forward to seeing you at our concerts. We're really trying to make them fun! I should say more fun because we already have a ball. We have such fun on stage!

The horn section is developing a little dance routine to do during our song "Peace in Your Soul." That's one of our favorites now because we come down in front of the stage with David, me, Kim, Dave and Ethan, too, sometimes—but he's usually playing the organ. The audience claps along and it's like a big happy get-together!

David really gets excited about this part of the show because he says it's when he really feels especially close to you. It's real folksy, David's playing the tambourine and singing to you—it's great.

Another thing that's different about David's concerts is that they are made up of all ages! There's little babies in the arms of their moms, teenagers, dads, and even grandmothers! Once after a performance a groovy little 60 year old lady came up to the stage and she said she thought the show was absolutely wonderful! She was great herself!

I think that David's show has something for everyone! Once there was a father there with his sons and he had some earmuffs on and everytime the girls would start screaming, he'd put them on!

We were joking with him from the stage, and everytime we'd get ready to do a really loud number, we'd shout to him, "Time for your earmuffs!" and he'd put them on. He liked the show as much as his children did, he was even clapping along!

I think that's great and it makes David feel really good. After all—if his show can bring parents and their daughters or sons really together, isn't that where it's at?

My space is out again, so remember, David and I will be looking for YOU at our next concert!
