more determined than we were. She just kept her jaws locked. We never did get our frisbee back, but we did learn an important lesson . . . never trust a dog named Mia.

After our adventure with Mia, our little group climbed the steps, minus our frisbee, and joined the rest of the company for hot dogs, hamburgers, fruit galore, and soft drinks. After dinner, we went back down to the beach and built a huge fire. All too soon, the beach was dark and cold, and it was time to call it a day. Cecelia's Letters

Dear Cecelia,

I love watching your brother on the "Partridge Family" every week. I think he's a riot! Please tell me—have Danny and Suzanne grown since last season? They look a lot taller to me.

Love & peace
Ami Baker

Dear Ami,

That's a good observation; they have indeed grown! Last year Danny and Suzanne were 4'6" and 3'8" respectively, but this season Danny stands 4'8½" and Suzanne is an even 4'!

Dear Cecelia,

Is there any truth to the rumor that the new Partridge, Brian Forster, likes to breed cats?

Trudy Walker
Tupelo, Ms.

Dear Trudy,

You can say there's lots of truth to it because that's been Brian's hobby for a long, long time! By the way, he has five beautiful Himalayan cats of his own named Samantha, Sancha, Juliet, Sheba and Sebastian!

Dear Cecelia,

You're probably the best authority on Danny, so please tell me what is his favorite color!

Diana Bell
Proctor, Vt.

Dear Diana,

It seems like Danny's favorite color varies from week to week, but the last time I checked, he said he liked black!
