

CHRIS STONE

FRANK WEBB

KURT RUSSELL

RUMOR:

I heard that Bill Bixby enjoyed doing his recent stage play in Illinois so much that he's decided to quit "Eddie's Father" and continue stage work.

Is Kurt Russell really through with acting so that he can play professional baseball from now on?

Please tell me what's going on! I saw a picture of Frank Webb with blond hair, and then I saw another pic of a guy who looks like his twin, only he had brown hair! Does Frank really have a brother?

Is it true? I heard there's going to be some Jackson Five cartoons!

Will Wes Stern make his acting debut in Bobby Sherman's new series?

I've been told that Stefan Arnglim is recording songs in Japanese!

Is it true that Shirley Jones and David Cassidy didn't want to work together in "The Partridge Family" in the beginning?

TRUTH:

Bill is an excellent stage performer and it's true that he enjoyed a successful run of "The Paisley Convertible," but he has no intentions of leaving the cast of "Eddie's Father." He says he's much too happy with his role to quit!

No! Kurt spent his summer as a professional member of the Bend, Oregon Rainbows Club, but as soon as the baseball season is over, he'll be back in L.A. ready to star in his next movie!

Sorry to be the first to break it to you, but we suspect you're seeing double! What actually happened was that Frank temporarily darkened his blond hair so he could audition for a special role in a movie, and we took advantage of the situation by photographing his new look to test everybody's reaction. Your votes came in about 50/50, proving that blond or brunette, Frank is lovable either way!

Hopefully, if things go as planned, there will be a series of Jackson Five cartoons premiering later this fall. Keep your fingers crossed!

Nope . . . as a matter of fact, Wes is now almost considered an "old timer" among the folks in show biz! In the last couple of years he starred in "The First Time" with Jacqueline Bisset, followed by "Three in the Cellar," for American International Pictures. He's also done some guest appearances in "Room 222," "Love, American Style" and the "Mary Tyler Moore Show."

Well, not exactly. Stefan is still singing in English, but he's done some recordings that are backed with Japanese instrumentation. It makes for a very interesting sound, so be listening for Stefan's records—they'll be out soon!

Not at all. As a matter of fact, their feelings were quite the opposite! In the first place, David and Shirley weren't even aware of one another going for auditions for the same show, so when they met up at the studio, it came as quite a surprise! But right from the start they liked the idea and thought it would be great if they were cast in the same show!
