MY SECRET
 STRENGTH
 BY DAVID

agement for me at a time when I needed it!
 In his own way, he made me realize that you can't focus all of yourself on one thing—like a particular job—because there's still too much to enjoy. He taught me, too, that you have to keep things in the right order of importance.
 Of course, even if he hadn't done so much for me, I would still think he's great. You wouldn't believe how much we laughed—my stomach muscles actually used to ache!

REASONS FOR HAPPINESS
 There are many things, people, forces, reasons for this world—and for the life on it. I guess as far as I'm concerned, there are just as many reasons for happiness and laughter. Laughter can work for a person in different ways, as it has for me: appreciation of a child's joy; encouragement; ability to take a joke; strengthening a friendship.
 There are dozens of other reasons and situations like these. With music as the universal language, wouldn't it be wonderful to have laughter as the universal sign of gratitude for life and what we have? Not something bought or sold, traded or bargained for—but something shared between people. It always brings them closer, and isn't that what's really important?
