WHAT'S THIS? FOR awhile Bobby feared he may have to discontinue concert tours. Audiences were becoming too wild and Bobby worried that someone might get seriously injured. But alas! Audiences realized this too and calmed down in time, and concerts were on again!

HERE'S JACK AGAIN! This time he moved to California to stay with the Krofft family while working on his show. Little did he know at the time that a "Pufnstuf" movie was in the offing! Here he's pictured enjoying a relaxing game of pool in the Krofft's comfortable Valley home.

BLOND AND BLUE-EYED Frank Webb appeared on the scene early last year when he debuted as a hemophiliac on "Marcus Welby, M.D." Girls also loved him in the hilarious Walt Disney flick, "The Computer Wore Tennis Shoes," which also starred Kurt Russell and Jon Provost.

MAKE WAY FOR a new fave! With guest appearances on shows like "Medical Center," "Marcus Welby" and "Bonanza" to name a few, David Cassidy had been recognized as a talented (and cute) newcomer! This was one of the first pictures that Tiger Beat ever ran on him!

SADNESS FILLED THE air when word came that "Brides" had been cancelled. The cast members had such great times together, they hated to see it end. But like the real troupers they were, they vowed to get together again in the future—and they stuck to their word!

JACK WILD FANS couldn't have been happier when Jack decided to embark on another type of career—singing! He recorded the popular number "Some Beautiful" backed with "Picture of You," which later turned out being two of the most requested songs on pop stations!
