

SUSAN

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

I THINK PINK WHEN...

I remember tomorrow is Saturday and I can sleep as late as I want.

I get a chance to read some letters from my fans and realize how really wonderful they are.

I see a couple walking hand in hand with that special look of love in their eyes.

My kitten Sappho jumps onto my lap to cuddle up.

I think how really wonderful it is to be alive.

I SEE RED WHEN...

I'm already late for an appointment and find my last pair of nylons have a gigantic run in them.

I walk out into my garden and find some stray dog has ripped up all my flowers.

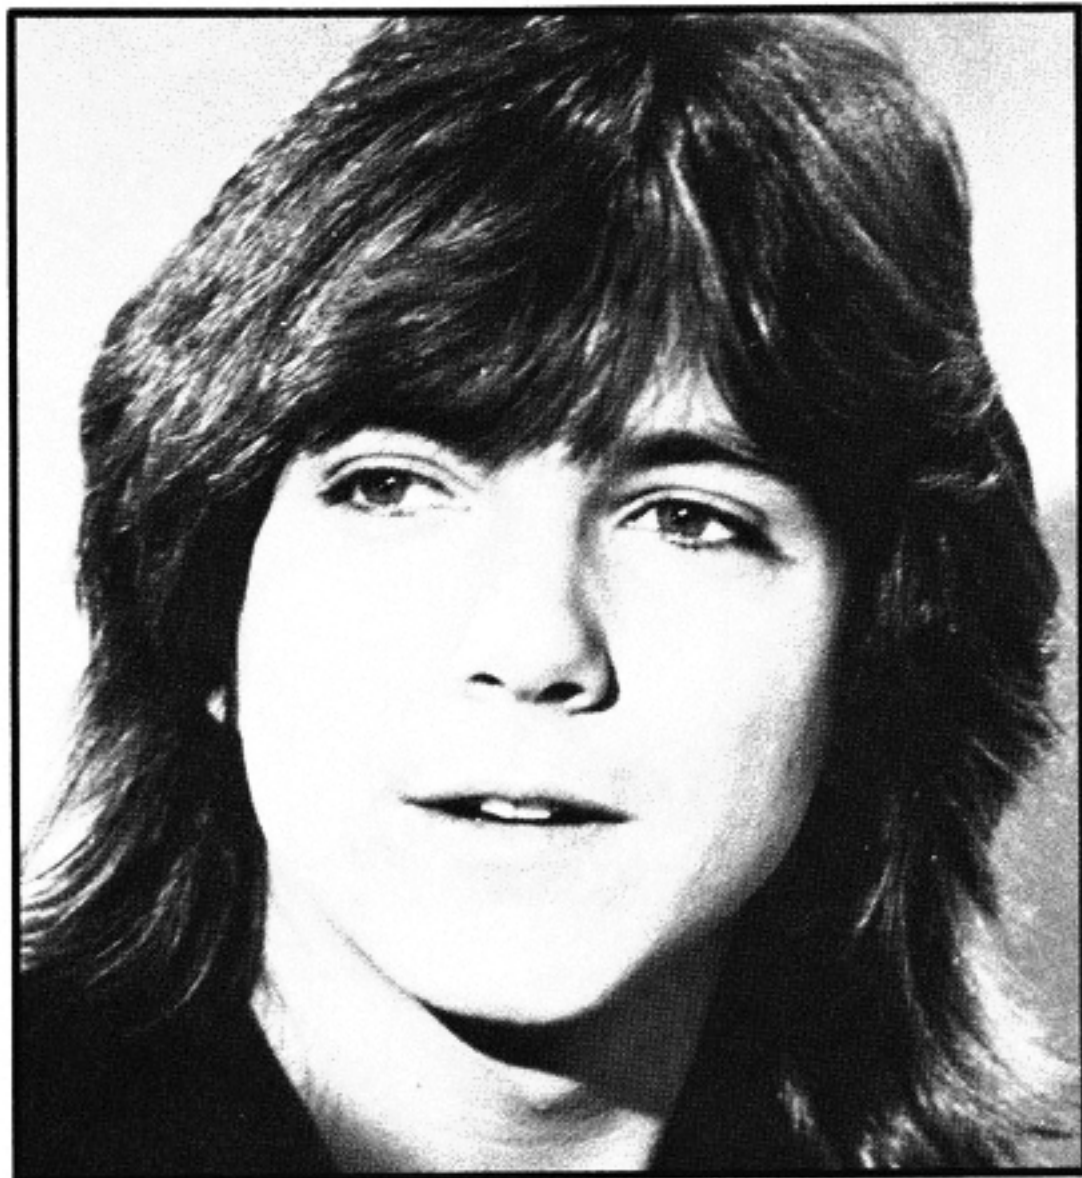

I lend a book to someone and they return it in bad condition.

My car stalls and the car behind me starts honking at me.

I see beautiful trees being cut down to put up plastic looking apartment buildings.

DAVID:

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 13

SUNSHINE

Walking past a bakery when they've just taken dozens of freshly baked bread out of the oven

My mom's home cooking

Daydreaming about the special day when our hands will touch for the first time

Making YOU happy!

SHOWERS

Getting a sore throat when I want to sing and sing

A favorite pair of Levis that just can't be worn anymore!

A girl with too much makeup on

Not being able to answer all my fan mail

Starting an exciting new book and then getting so busy I can't find time to finish it!

Being sick!

Drinking ice-cold juice first thing in the morning!