

The DAVID Only I Know

by Susann

HE'S GENTLE in so many ways! I've seen him when he's met children who have come to meet him on the set and he's wonderful with them. He never talks down to them but treats them with respect. I think his great love for animals has taught him what a lot of people need to know. That gentleness works wonders when it comes to caring.

HE'S UNDERSTANDING because I know that whenever I need to talk I can always turn to David. He always lets a person know that he's there if he's needed—whether for advice or just someone to be with. Day or night, wherever I am, I know his friendship is only a matter of dialing his phone number!

HE'S SHY which I really found hard to believe when we first met! You really have to get to know him before you realize that he is a very shy person although he hides it well. When he knows he has to meet someone personally, he sometimes wants to hide. But his consideration for the other person's feelings makes him try harder to overcome his shyness and be even friendlier. Isn't that a great way to overcome being bashful?
