

A DATE WITH DAVID!

He travels so much that few girls really get to know him well, but those who have, find him one of the most charming men in the world. He has immaculate manners and a sense of old world charm. In fact in many ways he is a throwback to another time, when women weren't fighting for their rights, but were given them as signs of respect and concern, by young men like David Cassidy. As he said recently, "I like feminine women who are proud of being women and don't want to dominate men."

David is the kind of man who holds back most deep feeling for his own private needs, but it is apparent that since he has become famous, he is having a difficult time finding a girl with the values he so much believes in. He has had a few disturbing experiences with women who tried to use him, for their own advantages. When he realized what was happening he became suspicious and angry, and he has been careful not to let it happen to him again.

As one young Broadway actress said recently, "I dated David a few times, after we met at a party given by a friend of his father. I found him to be loaded with charm, real wit and yet David is one of the most shy men I have ever known. He never wants to talk about his success, and even the mention of his TV show, 'The Partridge Family' is enough to make him turn off. It's not that he isn't proud of the show, and its success, but somewhere along the line he has been taught that it is bad manners to talk about his career.

It is one of his most charming qualities. "Another really nice thing about going on a date with David is the way he likes to pick places that are elegant but that he is unknown in. He doesn't try to prove to you what a big star he is. Instead all he really wants is to get

David's fuzzy boots are a souvenir of his travels but off-stage he dresses casually.
