

David Cassidy isn't any different than most people in some things. Everybody changes—we grow taller, mature, become an adult. In fact, nobody stays the same forever!

Look at yourself! Are you the same now as you were three years ago? Or, have your thoughts and ideas changed a bit? Do you find yourself thinking about things that you never thought about before?

Sure, it happens to all of us. Even David. But just how has as he softly strums, and sometimes you can hear his voice too, as he gently sings along.

But David's always done that, you say? True, but not with such depth and such emotion! David loves music. There was a time when he wasn't sure which way he wanted to go—movies or music! He still loves acting, but it isn't in the same way. It's sort of like music has become a part of him!

Maybe it's because music can do so many things! Make you laugh, sigh, or cry—it reaches ever is a special someone. A someone who will reach his soul the way his music does. Someone different, because none of the girls he's dated so far have been able to give him this.

We're all searching for that one thing. The feeling of contentment, the feeling that we're needed, that we're loved, and knowing that we're fulfilling someone else's needs and giving love, too!

It sounds like a big order to fill, doesn't it? But when you come down to it, giving and receiving love should be the easiest thing

DAVID'S GIRLS ARE DIFFERENT NOW!

People say that David Cassidy has changed, that his ideas, his music and his goals are different. Even his girls are different! Who are they? Could you be one?

David changed? If you go out on the set of the "Partridge Family" to visit David, you don't notice the changes right away. He still laughs and talks to the cameramen, he teases Susan Dey, pals around with Danny, Suzanne and Brian, spends free minutes talking with Shirley about his brothers, and studies his script!

It all seems the same, until filming breaks for lunch and you look around for David and find he's disappeared! Where does he go? What does he do?

Usually you'll find him in his dressing room—alone, except for his guitar. You can hear the music your very soul. And David, who's had a life filled with searching (for a father who was really never there, for someone to call his own, to share life with) and with heartbreaks (the divorces in his family, a serious operation, the death of his dogs Sam and Kula, vicious letters from ex-fans), needs something to reach his soul.

Is David more of a loner now than he was before? No, he's actually learned to enjoy social life a bit more. He's made new friends like singer Elton John and the boys from 3-Dog Night.

Still, even David realizes now that what he needs more than

and the most natural thing in the world.

It isn't though—just look around. David's looked around before, he's still looking. But, now he knows what it is he's looking for. Will it just be a dream for him or will it come true?

Will he ever find that girl who will reach his soul and bring him peace? Yes, the girl who will one day be David's girl will be different, for she'll succeed where all others have failed.

She'll be the girl who can touch not only David's hand, but his heart and soul as well. Who is she? Maybe she's you!
