

"How Do I Love Thee?"

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 36

Dear David,

I've never written a love letter before, so please excuse this if it sounds funny. I just wanted to drop you a line and tell you that you mean a great deal to me . . . more than anyone else in the world! We just moved to this new city, and I haven't many new friends yet of my own. But at least I don't feel lonely too often, because I know you will always be there. You've given me much happiness in the last few years; more than I could ever want. I just hope that someday I'll be able to show you my appreciation and make you feel equally happy. Until then, I hope this letter will help convey those feelings.

Love you,
Barbie Daniels

Dear David,

I just got back from one of your concerts, and can't put into words all the excitement you created! I know you saw everything that was going on, but to actually EXPERIENCE it and to be your fan, is a different thing entirely! Believe me when I say that you made all us girls happy, and I'm no exception. I hope your success lasts forever. You really deserve it!

Sincerely,
Betsy Kimm

My Dearest David,
This may be a little late, but it means as much as it always has—happy birthday, love! I want you to know that I'll always be there when you reach out and I'll not let anything I hear get into the way and change my feelings. I'll care for you always.

Love,
Lisa Alright

Dearest David,

I'm not the type of person who sits down to write mushy letters, especially to television stars whom I never met. But I've been watching your show for the last couple years, as well as buying your records, and I wanted to say that you have a way of making me feel important in this enormously-populated world. Other than my family and few close friends, nobody knows I exist! But ever since I began reading about you, you've shown me that you're a sincere person who cares for his fans and is truly interested in their welfare. And, for the first time, I really feel needed and cared for! Thank you, David, for being the kind person you are. The world needs more people like you!

Love always

Dear David,

I'm not very good when it comes to putting my feelings down on paper, so this letter is going to be far from the most perfect thing you ever saw! But I did want to write just to tell you that you captured my heart long ago, and I'm very glad you did! I'm proud to call myself your fan, and I know I'll always be one.

Faithfully
Marianne
