

David's Magic

Less than two years ago David Cassidy made a dramatic appearance on "Marcus Welby, M.D." which caught the eye of thousands of TV viewers across the country. Almost overnight his popularity grew and the months following brought one whirlwind achievement after another! Now, at the beginning of a new year, David looks back on all the wonderful moments he's spent with you these past two years!

APRIL 1970—My first official photo session was for TIGER BEAT and FaVE magazines. I couldn't get over all the attention I was getting. It was a completely new thing in my life!

JANUARY 1970—I'd made my first TV appearance on the "F.B.I." on Jan. 4th, and on "Marcus Welby, M.D." on Jan. 13th. Then, I made the pilot for "The Partridge Family" and waited on pins and needles to see if it would sell!

MAY 1970—Although "Partridge" wasn't sold yet, I made an appearance on "The Dating Game" and won a date with this lovely lady. We spent a weekend in Vancouver, B.C. Fun!

JAN. 27, 1970—Laudy Powell, Editor of FaVE called and asked me to come to the Laufer Co. offices for an interview (my first!). She told me she'd been receiving mail about me!

JAN. 1970—I was living with my friend from high school, Sam Hyman, in a small house in the Hollywood hills. Sam was working as film editor, me as a struggling, but hopeful actor!

JUNE 1970—I had been working for weeks with my producer Wes Farrell and we began recording in June. I had never done any professional recording and Wes really was a help!
