

Do you think your son is handsome?

Yes, very, I have always thought so.

Was David an openly affectionate child? What about in his teen years? Now?

David has always been very affectionate — and still is. It is necessary for David's personality. That's why I named him Simlin Saw.

Did David do anything special for you on days like your birthday or Mother's Day? How about now? Is he good at remembering special occasions?

David is not a conformist, and doesn't like the idea of having to be reminded to send anyone a gift, just because the calendar says so. He does remember holidays, but I think it is marvelous to receive gifts without an occasion.

How did you punish David when he was young? How did he react to the punishment?

I grounded him, which meant he could not leave the home premises. He did not react well and always felt it was somehow unfair. We had many long discussions about that!
