HOLLYWOOD HAPPENINGS

By Ron Scott

SAN DIEGO just hasn't been the same since DAVID HOLMES made the scene in "You're A Good Man Charlie Brown." David stopped the show several times with his fantastic performance and the many female fans in the audience were constantly throwing flowers and notes on the stage for him. Immediately after the show closed, David was signed to co-star with SHANI WALLIS in "The King And I" at the Starlight Theater in the middle of the San Diego Zoo! Needless to say, the animals took a back seat that week. David is presently working on his first record album and his first single is due to be released around Christmas. You can write to David c/o P.O. Box 4358, North Hollywood, California 90171. He loves hearing from you. And be sure to watch this column for the announcement of David's International Fan Club.

Another young actor really turning them on in San Diego is newcomer ALBERT HARTMAN. Albert is currently co-starring with ROSE MARIE in "Everybody's Girl" and is also being featured this fall in American International's "Arnold Hammond." He has a unique success story—he was discovered at the Olde World Restaurant on Sunset Strip, where he was working as a waiter. You can write to him c/o Craig-Goldin Agency, 8732 Sunset Blvd., Suite 240,

Los Angeles, California 90069.

During your lunch break at school, try to get to the nearest TV set to watch ABC's daytime serial "All My Children." Handsome young RICHARD HATCH plays the son in this soap opera and is definitely destined for stardom. While on a recent trip to Hollywood (he lives in New York City), Richard landed a guest appearance on "Room 222" and also received a major motion picture contract. Richard has an incredible singing voice, writes music as well and is due to cut his first album soon.

Sid and Marty Krofft have come up with another winner. The producers that brought you "H.R. Pufnstuf" and "The Bugaloos" have created a brilliant new series for Saturday morning programming entitled "Lindville." BUTCH PATRICK (you probably remember him from "The Munsters") stars in it. BILLIE HAYES, that great character who played Witchiepoo in "Pufnstuf," is also in the show.

CHRISTOPHER ASHTON, a new TV star on the horizon, recently celebrated his birthday with a bash held at the Century Plaza Hotel in Beverly Hills. Those attending were DEL RUSSEL, DAVID JOLLIFFE, STEPHEN ARNGRIM, KAREN VALENTINE, DAVID HOLMES and SUSAN DEY. The rock group SWEATHOG entertained. Watch
