

DAVID CASSIDY is singing so sweetly that you ache with pleasure! And he seems so close to you that you can almost reach up and take his outstretched hand in yours! David has you completely mesmerized as he moves across the stage—steadily sliding, slinking and swooping his way deeper and deeper into your very soul. Every flicker of expression flashing across his face is being intimately revealed to you—and you feel as if you and David are completely alone together.

Believe it or not, you are one of twenty thousand people watching David Cassidy as he gives his very best performance for you! What makes this concert so special is that every move David makes doesn't go unnoticed by you—darlin' David is being "video-magnified" by Joshua White and his marvelous Joshua Television! Three television cameras (two in front and one behind) are closely following David as he flows across the stage—jumping, twisting and turning as the music gets faster and louder. But he can't escape your careful scrutiny, cos Joshua has him completely captured and within your gaze at all times!!

This is how it feels to be at a Cassidy concert when Joshua White is doing David's video-magnification. And last March, over twenty thousand of you 16 regulars were lucky enough to be at Madison Square Garden in New York City to see it all in radiant living color. But if you couldn't join David in concert that day, join him now in 16 by turning to page 67—and then hurry right back here to go behind-the-scenes and see what happens before David can go on stage!

GETTING READY FOR DAVID

At 6:30 P.M. the day before David's historic concert appearance, a large Joshua Television truck pulls into the backstage area of Madison Square Garden. Between then and midnight, the Joshua Television staff will go over every piece of electrical equipment contained in the truck (which is about as big as your living room!) to be sure that it is in perfect working order and will show David at his best.

Early the morning of the concert—8:30 A.M., to be precise—both the Joshua TV crew and David's light and sound technicians arrive to set up the stage and equipment, so that, later in the day, you can see and hear everything David does or says. By 9 A.M. the wooden stage has been set up and the piano, drums, keyboard and amplifiers have been moved in. By 9:15 the three TV cameras are warming up and a platform is being built to hold the special equipment that will bring you David's video-magnification in glorious color. The stage is a maze of wires—in fact, to become "best friends" with everybody, it'd help if you just happened to be carrying a roll of electrician's tape in your purse!!

IN DAVID'S DRESSING ROOM

Now—let's sneak into David's dressing room while everybody's putting the finishing touches on the stage—we have a little time before David arrives to rehearse!

Walking into David's dressing room, you are impressed by its quiet and serene atmosphere. In one corner is the Joshua TV set which will monitor David's performance—so that his PF mom Shirley Jones, his half-brothers Shaun and Patrick, and his Grandad Ward will be able to see everything David does too! In another part of the room is the special bed David always brings along so he can lie down for a while before the show. Then your eye travels to a blackboard which has a scrawled chalk message on it saying, "All my love, Tink"—and you smile, cos you know that Tink is one of the adorable dogs that lives in David's manager's office!

Suddenly you hear the band warming up! You rush back to your seat just in time—for David is about to rehearse! David does a smidgeon of Ricky's Tune, the cameras quickly focus on him, the lights flash up and down, and then, all too soon, David is gone—disappearing just as mysteriously as he appeared! But you really don't care, cos you know that within a few hours you'll be sitting in that huge concert hall, along with twenty thousand other David Cassidy lovers, cheering as he performs in the flesh—and feeling oh, so very close to him via Joshua TV!!
