closely down the entire length of your body. Anything that emphasizes the waist is a big-big DON'T. If you want to wear a belt, it's safer to wear it at the hips, but if at the waist, then not wide or tight. As far as the broad hips go, a-line, soft box-pleated or gathered skirts are the best concealers for you. Pleated skirts seem to be very fashionable right now! An easy fitting tunic top over pants or skirts is a good look. Don't constrict your figure with very tight belts or dresses that hug the hips. Don't wear skimpy little tops, they'll make you look bottom heavy. You need a bit more bulk on the top to balance the proportion. Try these suggestions and see how you like them. I'm sure you'll find them very flattering!
