

At three and a half-years-old David (center) celebrated Christmas with close family relatives in West Orange, N.J.

The following spring, David tried out his first tricycle—and his mom took a pic, natch. Note: David's hair gets lighter in the spring and summer.

More relatives—and more photos! This time it's Aunt Marion, Grandfather Fred, Aunt Leila—and little David at the Asbury Park seaside in N.J.

At four and a half David was already flashing his winning smile. That "object" clutched in his hand was his favorite bath-tub toy—a floating fish.

And speaking of bath tubs and floating fish—here's a sneaky snapshot David's mom took of him in the bath at the age of four and a half. . .

"Hey, Mom—cut that out, will ya?! Gosh, can't a guy have no privacy?!"
