

WHAT'S HAPPENING

JOYCE BECKER

David Cassidy was, once again, forced out of his happy home by his hysterical fans. Seems that even high in the Hollywood Hills David wasn't safe from the fans who wanted pictures or an autograph from their idol. David had a super apartment in town until someone printed his home address and he was stormed by fan type femmes. Up into the Hills he hid until the troupe discovered him again. "Maybe they followed me home from the studio one day," David told me. "Who knows how they found me up there . . . but they sure did." Fans would come out from behind trees and bushes just to get a look see. Soooo, like many another superstar, David had to flee to the other side of the hills. Out in the San Fernando Valley, in a lovely town called Encino, David Cassidy finally found peace . . . he hopes!

My dears, would your hairs stand on end if we ever told you the names of the top lady (oh, really!) stars who were having an amorous fling with one another until one of the gals discovered the other one's son.

Sally Struthers got engaged . . . more on that next month!

Judy Strangis of Room 222 is really helping Ben Murphy of Alias Smith And Jones get over his broken romance with Claudine Longet. From the way the pair looks, Ben might soon ask, "Claudine who?"

Dean Martin's closet routine has been a fixture of his top-rated TV hour for five of the six years that the show has been on the air. But do you know how the idea originated?

Producer-director Greg Garrison started pulling the closet trick on Dino as a gag long before the routine ever got used on the program. Just for fun, Garrison used to collar stars from nearby shows who would rap on the door on signal. Martin got such a kick out of it that he decided to make it part of the show.

A lot of interesting people have been popping out of the door ever since. Among them this past year have been Lee Marvin, Bob Hope, Dan Blocker, Burl Ives, Jack Benny, Phil Harris, Jimmy Durante, Raymond Burr, and Mickey Rooney.

Once the entire 60-member Burbank High School Band traipsed through the door. Another time, it was a camel. And Johnny Carson has made several calls with a characteristic pantomime routine.

Word around Hollywood has it that Henry Gibson is not living in a flower filled world anymore. Friends have told me that he is soooo sorry that he left the wild n' wacky world of Laugh-

Our Joyce enjoys date Arthur Katz, Ruth Buzzi and Ruth's number one man, her husband Bill. That's Debbie Reynolds's little(?) girl Carrie Fisher with Morgan Mason, Pamela's young son.

A twosome that's hard to keep up with: Glenn Ford and Hope Lange back together.

Walter Matthau plays Count Dracula much to his wife's amusement at Fiddler preem. Days Of Our Lives star, Peter Brown exchanged vows with Yvette Safargy. Phil Brown, Jilly Rizzo, Joe De Carlo wish them the best.
