

Do David's fans approach you? If so, what is it that they seem to want to know the most?

Yes, they certainly do. I am very impressed with his fans.

They usually want me to give a message to Dave or a gift - or they have a gift for me. They are really wonderful.

Does David work out his own problems, or does he seek advice. Whom would he turn to first?

I have never imposed on David. Every individual has a right to mature on his own - with guidance, of course. At times he seems to work out his own problems and at other times he seeks advice.

I hope that Dave will always feel he can come to me for advice!

How did you feel when David moved out on his own for the first time?

Terrible - but I knew that it was the right thing at the time for the both of us.
