Dear Julie,

I think that would be fantastic! I'd love the chance of doing a special, but so far, my schedule has been so tight and hectic that it just hasn't been possible. Perhaps during Partridge Family's hiatus, plans might be discussed about one. In the meantime, my concerts will be keeping me pretty busy, too. But I really would leap at the chance for a TV special—thanks for the great idea!

Dear David,

Are you a vegetarian?

Donna Pipher
Sacramento, Ca.

Dear Donna,

No, I don't follow a strict vegetarian's diet. I love vegetables—especially crisp, green salads. But sometimes nothing tastes better than a lobster or a thick steak! My mom, Evelyn Ward, is a very strict vegetarian. One thing for sure, I'm watching what kinds of food I put into my body more carefully now. It really does make a difference to your health as to what kinds of foods you eat!

FOR SHIRLEY:

Dear Shirley,

Do you ever feel funny about working with your own step-son on the show? Have you had any problems about this?

Jeanette Toan
St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Jeanette,

Actually, no one knew David was my step-son until after the show's plans were underway! Our relationship hasn't posed any problems on the set because David and I are good friends! On the set, we are two actors at work, each trying to do his best. Off the set, we are friends and relatives. I've never thought of it as a problem and neither has David.

FOR DANNY:

Dear Danny,

Do you think you will ever quit acting and go into writing like your parents?

Traci Reed
Trenton, N.J.

Dear Traci,

I hope to go to college and learn something about writing. I love acting and want to do it for as long as I can. But, by knowing the other sides of acting—production, writing, directing—I'll not only be helping myself as an actor but I'll also become one of those well-rounded people we've both read and heard so much about! Whew! I got a little carried away—maybe I won't need those writing lessons!
