Hollywood and lets us all peek in!

Dan Rowan and Dick Martin were immortalized in a wax museum and their wives pretended to like the wax dummies better!

Mike Landon helped celebrate at a surprise birthday party for Mitch Vogel. Mitch also announced he's got a new musical group now.

at my house, astonished everyone by holding collected objects like rings, keys, etc. and revealing startling true facts about the owners—most of whom she had not met. (Oooh—the big stars who go to her, including Glenn Ford, etc.!) Lotta flew next day to Hawaii to tape her own show there. The once seemingly impossible is no longer wild, way out, freaky facts. Psychic phenomena is here to stay.

George Dareos, the recognized king of ESP stated in Movieland & T.V. Time and this column, when we interviewed the Beatles on their first visit here, that they would break up three years hence and go their separate ways. And they all did. And that the Monkees wouldn't last more than two seasons. They didn't. That Annette Funicello, teen box office movie queen, would retire overnight for marriage! She did! His fab predictions included Jackie's marriage to Onassis, Marilyn Monroe's death, etc., etc. You Luvs are always writing in with "remember when Mr. Dareos predicted this? And here it is!"

It was teardrops in Las Vegas when we flew in for Red Skeleton's show at the Hilton International. Red surprised us all by announcing his immediate retirement from show business. This follows on the heels of his split with wife Georgia for a whole new life. "What will you be doing Red?" we asked. He smiled. "What I love to do—composing." He already is commissioned to write a ballet for Margot Fonteyn.

Bobby Sherman even time, as we promised last issue. Bobby's up for dramatic roles, like playing a psychopathic killer in an
