

David Cassidy: Has he changed at all in the past two years? Here's what David said in his very first interview and what he says now!

& TODAY

I think I'm attracted to blonds in the beginning. I like nice legs."

Today: "It doesn't matter what color hair a girl has. I'm attracted first of all to the vibrations I get from her as a person—inside. And, I think that's what really counts! I still like intelligence and a sense of humor, I suppose I'm still a leg-man. Girls have pretty legs."

Yesterday: "Fans? I really never had any before! I guess it's nice."

Today: "Fans are some of the most beautiful people in the world. I owe so much to mine. I love every one of them and only wish I had a chance to meet more of them personally, and have time to get to know them."

Yesterday: "I don't have a special girl. I guess I'm always searching for her. Sometimes I don't think I'll find her!"

Today: "I think what I want most is a girl to call my own. I know she's there waiting for me, waiting to call me her own, too. I guess it's just not time yet."

Yesterday: "I don't really have a lot of friends, just a few very close friends."

Today: "In the last couple of years, I've learned to really treasure friends. Nothing can put me in a happier frame of mind faster than knowing I've got true friends. I've learned that you've got to open yourself up to people because there are a lot of beautiful people you can make friends with, if you take the time, and care."

Yesterday: "I always try to be just me."

Today: "Sometimes it seems that people can't understand that all I want to be is myself—David Bruce Cassidy, not someone who's been molded or formed to be a certain way. Being yourself, and knowing who you are—that's important."

Yesterday: "Me, will I ever be a superstar? I don't think I'd want to be one!"

Today: "Sometimes I still can't believe everything that's happened! It's great because I've met some wonderful people, some very special people, my fans. That's made everything worthwhile—everything beautiful. They've given me so much and I only hope I've given them something in return!"

