

A Partridge Memory

CONTINUED

David: I had a great time in the show where I dressed up like a tree! I felt really strange, but I had fun!

Susan: I remember working with Rob Reiner in a show called "A Man Called Snake." He's a terrific actor, and I enjoyed working with him.

Danny: The Christmas show!! I got to ride a huge white horse, and I wore a white cowboy suit. It was like a dream! Everybody was wearing old fashioned costumes, and it was a lot of fun!

Brian: I really liked the show about the hamsters! The last day of shooting, there were a hundred hamsters on the set!

Suzanne: I have to agree with Brian! I loved all those cute little hamsters. I wanted to keep all of them, but my mother wouldn't let me!

Dave Madden: I can tell you which one I liked least! The show where I had to be dressed like a magic fairy... it was terrible!

Little Things Mean A Lot

Every Partridge has a soft spot in their heart for those special little moments that only they remember. Here are a few of the Partridges' special memories.

Shirley Jones said that she was very flattered by a favorable review in Frank Capra's best seller "The Name Above The Title."

David's special memories are all about his concerts, and all the fans who came to see him while he was on tour.

"I've found out that I have a good eye for photography," said Danny Bonaduce. "My dad gave me my own camera, and now Dave Madden and I go on picture taking expeditions!"
