

Want to win £5?

Want to write to your favourite pop star? Well, now's your chance!

All you have to do is write an interesting letter to any of the pop stars featured in FAN. If your letter is published then you'll really be in luck, because not only will you win £5, but there's every possibility that your favourite pop star will get to read it!

Dearest David,

I've written to you many times, but so far I haven't been lucky enough to get a personal reply. I don't expect one, though, because I can guess how very busy you must be.

I just wanted to tell you about the fancy dress party my brother and I went to the other week. When we received the invitation to it, we sat around with mum and dad for ages deciding what to go as, then suddenly my brother came up with the greatest idea ever... and because of it we won the competition and £5 each. What did we go as? My brother went as you, David, and I went as a mad, screaming fan of yours—and that wasn't all that hard! Miss A. Wilton, Yorkshire.

Marvellous Marc,

I really wanted to write you a very personal letter that no one else would read, but I thought it better to write through FAN, because I'm sure you'll get to read it this way.

I saved and saved and eventually managed to save up enough money for your album 'The Slider'. I thought it would be good, but zowie!—I've never heard anything so fantastic in my life. It must have really been a difficult decision for you if to put super tracks like 'Rock On' and 'Ballrooms Of Mars' on the album. After all, I'm sure they would have made the top of the charts as singles. Marc, you really do give your fans value for money!

Diana Kelly, London.

Dear Marty,

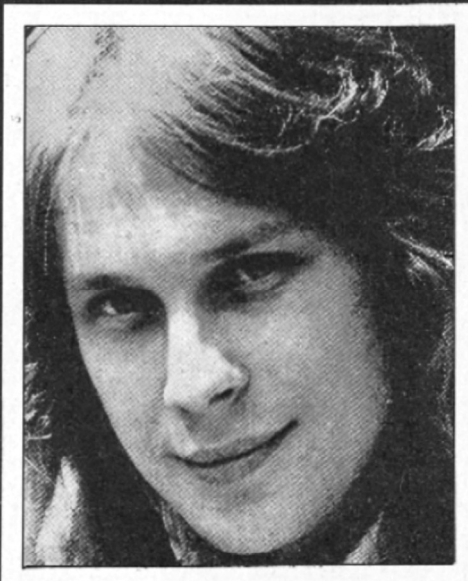

I am a mother of a thirteen-year-old daughter, Susan, who is over the moon about you. I know you must get a great many letters asking for personally autographed photographs of yourself, but please, just to give me a bit of peace for a while, I would be most grateful if you could send one to Susan. I am enclosing my full name and address, I thank you in anticipation.

Mrs. J. R. Kent.

Dear Mrs. J. R.,

As soon as he received your letter, FAN's Editor passed it to me, and I hope your daughter, Susan, will be pleased with the autographed group shot of The New Seekers I will be posting off to her in the next day or so. It is a shame that we're not able to supply all demands when it comes to autographed photos, but we do try our best!

Marty Kristian, Harrow.

My very own Donny,

Well, I wish you were my very own, but I suppose I should be thankful that you're around, even if millions of other girls like you too.

I've written a little poem for you, but now that it's come to writing it out for you to read through FAN, I feel a bit silly about it, so I won't bother. All I will say is that I love you very much and please come back to all of us in Britain soon. I'll miss you till then.

Miss S. Stewart, Glasgow.

Dear Jackson 5,

For sounds you're tops! That's my message to you, the greatest group in the world. In my opinion no other group can touch you—you're marvellous. And, man, what a personality Michael has got! I flipped when I saw him some months ago on Diana Ross' TV show. Michael and the rest of the group—you're the tops!

Barbara Miller, Devon.

FARE

Happy to meet you again for another issue of FAN! From your letters we are very pleased to see that you think FAN is a magazine on its own! We tried to make it as different as possible from anything else by giving you lots and lots of colour pin-ups. If however, there is anything you would like to see in FAN that we are missing out, please don't be shy about telling us exactly what it is. If there are enough requests for it, then you can be sure to see it in our pages soon.

Isn't it nice of Donny Osmond to write an article for us? We know how busy he is at the moment, but he tells us that he's not too busy to write to you FAN readers! And there's more good news to come... Donny will also be dropping you a line in the next issue.

Stay with FAN because it all happens here! No. 3 will be on sale on November 24th, so have a word with your newsagent about reserving your copy.

I'll meet you then!
