

Meet David's (Squawk!) Friend Henry!

Bet you didn't know that David Cassidy has two friends named Henry! One of them, as 'most everyone knows, is photographer Henry Diltz, and the other is the black mynah bird you see David with here.

Henry the bird belongs to David's manager, Jim Flood, and every time David visits Jim at Aarons Management he makes sure to say hello to Henry. If he forgets, Henry is sure to fill the air with angry hoots and screeches!

Right now Henry's vocabulary consists of words like "Hello!" "How are you?" and "Merry Christmas!", but David likes to tease Jim by threatening to teach Henry to cuss!
