

ALL THE GOSSIP!

Hiya! Hiya! It's back to school time, huh? Well, summer can't last forever, you know.

Let me see, what goodies do I have to pass along to you this month?

Oh yes, David Cassidy had his house broken into this month—by one of his managers! But it was OK because David was right there all along. You see David and Jim Flood came back from a business meeting to find that David had forgotten his keys, so Jim said he'd break in the back of the house—only he miscalculated a bit and ended up with an ugly bump on his head where he hit a beam. It was a little embarrassing for the next week, as he had to keep explaining to people how he'd gotten the bump while breaking into David's house!

Speaking of David, if you're ever in Hollywood and looking for him, you might check out a restaurant called The Rainbow on Sunset Blvd.—he's been showing up there quite a bit lately. One night he came in with Elton John!

And speaking of doing nice things for the handicapped, The Osmonds have formed The Osmond Foundation a non-profit organization that will aid deaf and blind children. This has been a long-time dream of Mrs. Osmond's, ever since her first two sons, Virl and Tommy, were discovered to have hearing defects.

If you'd like to make a donation to the Foundation or get more information about it, the address is P.O. Box 1155, Provo, Utah 84601.

Alan Osmond, by the way, says he's started growing again. He's already 6'2" tall and figured that was as tall as he was going to be, but now he's growing again—he says it's probably so he can keep ahead of Jay, who's getting taller every day!

I saw this movie the other day and well, frankly it's pretty bad but Micky Dolenz is in it and he's pretty good, so if you're a true Micky fan you might want to see it. It's called "Ace of Spades"—but remember, I warned you, it's bad, but Micky's good.

Stuff and junk—Delaney and Bonnie Bramlett are getting divorced and each will be starting a solo career . . . Johnny Whitaker was chosen over 4,000 other young actors to star in a musical adaptation of "Tom Sawyer" . . . Three Dog Night set the new record for the most money made from a single performance when they took home over $125,000 for a one hour show at the Pocono Speedway in Pennsylvania! That's a lot of loot!

More stuff—The movie that Butch Patrick appears in has been retitled from "The Sandpit Generals" to "The Wild Pack" . . . Glen Campbell donated all of his proceeds from a concert in Richmond, Virginia to aid the flood victims in the city . . . And if anyone should ask you, my all time favorite album right now is Neil Diamond's latest, "Moods." It is beautiful.

Saw a couple of good concerts this month too. Smokey Robinson and The Miracles played their last Hollywood performance before Smokey's retirement—and it was great. Smokey's always been one of my favorite people and I'll miss being able to see him live—but I'll look forward to his records just the same.

And just last night I trooped back down to the Forum to see Three Dog Night, who also did a two hour set, including a lot of their early hits that they don't often do nowadays. Cory looked fantastic in a western outfit, including spurs—and the whole group was just spectacular!

Drat! I always run out of room when I'm just getting started. Well, see ya next month. Happy back to schooling.

C.D.
