

in the history of the two programs!

Little STEVIE WONDER is one big talent! His "Music On My Mind" is really a one-man-band album where he does all the singing and plays all the instruments (plus a Moog Synthesizer). To top things off, Stevie produced the album himself.

JAN-MICHAEL VINCENT has changed his mind about appearing in the movie "Deadly Honeymoon," after replacing RYAN O'NEAL who also had second thoughts. There's now a super casting search in Hollywood for just the right face, and meanwhile, Jan-Michael is busy at Disney studios in Burbank (beautiful downtown) with his "World's Greatest Athlete" movie.

NEIL DIAMOND will have his own TV special next season, just as soon as he hits on just the right idea. Neil was very involved in the drive to register young voters, and personally paid for the printing and postage of several thousand posters urging young people to use the power of the ballot box.

THE BRADY BUNCH kids are still rehearsing their club and concert act several days a week and things are going so well, they invited us to a preview! The TEEN LIFE photog here in Hollywood snapped some neat pix of them practicing at Maureen's house, so watch for them here, coming soon!

All of the original members of THE BYRDS are planning to get back together long enough to make an album. Since they're all under contract to their separate recording companies, it's taking some paper work, but the end result should be worth the time spent. And wouldn't it be nice if the BEATLES followed their example? Although the four of them have had plenty of hits on their own, it's not the same!

ROD STEWART's been spending a wee bit of vacation time in Miami and now has the face to match that sunburned voice of his. He's also recorded a disc under the pseudonym of Python Jackson or some such, but we'd know his voice anywhere!

THE ROLLING STONES' tour of the states started June 3. They planned to visit thirty cities here and in Canada. The number of concerts booked thus far stands at forty, which sounds like one busy summer of gathering no moss.

All is not well with GRAND FUNK RAILROAD. Something has evidently slipped the track because there's been around $55 million dollars in lawsuits been filed against them by their manager, Terry Knight. More news on that front as we have it.

LAST MINUTE THINGIES: David Cassidy's considering an offer to do a concert tour in Australia... Ex-Monkee Micky Dolenz guest starred as a rock group leader on "My Three Sons" ... This show, by the way, has finally been cancelled after who remembers how many years... David Clayton Thomas, former lead singer of Blood Sweat & Tears has an album on his own and did over 100 disc jockey interviews to promote it... Paul McCartney is reportedly writing some special songs just for Twiggy... Sandy Duncan's romance with the young doctor who operated on her eye looks serious... The Carpenters winging to Japan after their Academy Awards performance to vacation just a little and receive lots of awards... Elvis Presley was on the road for weeks on end, doing concerts and filming a documentary... "Star Trek" is no more, except re-runs of old shows, but 5,000 fans (they call themselves Trekkies) from all over the world gathered at a convention in Hollywood to pay tribute to their all-time favorite show.

That's the news from Sunny Cal. See you with more of the same next issue.
