RICKY WILDE

Ricky Wilde is an eleven year old bomb-shell who's doing very nicely thank you. And not just in this country either. Hollywood magazines like Tiger Beat, Fave and Right On are featuring him too. Ricky's fame is also spreading across Europe. We should tell you that Ricky is the son of rock'n'roller Marty Wilde (ask your mum about him!) Ricky's just been signed up by Jonathan King at UK Records. Seems Jonathan has great hopes for his future . . . Watch out Donny!

When has someone got nine holes in their head? When they have both their ears pierced! (two eyes, two nostrils, one mouth, two ears and two holes where the ear-rings are!)

DAVID'S STILL LOOKING

Want to know something nice and romantic? David Cassidy wears the ring his mother gave to his father when they were both fifteen and in love. And when David was fifteen, Jack Cassidy gave him that extra special ring as a keepsake.

David still wears it—so he can't have found someone yet he loves enough to give it to . . .

CRACKING UP!

Don't go crackers! Well on reflection we suggest you do.

Ex-Sweet member Michael Stewart is now in a group of just that name! Can't wait to hear some of their stuff . . .

Reminds us of a joke: Why do ducks go out in the rain?

Because they're quackers! Sorry!

SOMETHING KOOKING

Clive Dunn and Middle of the Road have something in common! Really! Want to know what it is? Two lovely singing sisters—The Kookies—have worked with them both. Sounds pretty kooky . . .

BREAK A RECORD

Rory Gallagher is another guy hell-bent on breaking records. On his February tour 300 people were turned away from the Edmonton Sundown Club. The concert broke the house record set a few weeks earlier by Dutch super-group, Focus. Can't be bad!

What do you give a sick pig? Oinkment! What do you do to a sick budgie? Give it tweekment. Debbie Holmes—
