

WOW! DAVID CASSIDY... 11 Commandments of Love

David reveals what the girl of his dreams must believe in—and here's some tips on how to become that lucky girl!

The first commandment: "Do your own thing, but don't hurt anyone." David says this is his real philosophy of life, and where females are concerned it boils down to one word: liberated! David likes a girl who's brave enough to do her own thing despite the criticisms of others. That's why he admires his stepmother Shirley Jones so much. The second commandment: "Be honest." More than any other quality, David looks for honesty in a love relationship. He doesn't want a girl who's too timid to speak her mind — or a girl who'll build up his ego with false compliments. The third commandment: "Be loyal." Before love comes friendship, and David has never thought romantically about a girl he didn't regard as a true friend first. Loyalty is something very special to this fave. As proof of his own loyalty, David still has all the same friends he had before stardom. The fourth commandment: "Dig
