

DAVID CASSIDY IN LOVE WITH OLDER WOMAN--

A while back, David Cassidy was telling one interviewer that he was confused and uncertain about life.

Today, all that seems past—the emotional turbulence gone for all time, with a new young man emerging, confident and happy.

People who know David well feel that his life style will continue to be unrestrained. He hates convention now. He wants no restriction. And his behavior goes far beyond the “doing his own thing” syndrome. It is deeper, more pervasive than that. There is nothing capricious about the way David thinks, feels and does things these days.

He has changed very much.

For one thing, he no longer cares what people think about him.

If an offer came to pose nude for yet another centerfold, he would not necessarily turn it down. After all, nobody but nobody dared to think he would go so far the first time.

David is getting his kicks however he wants to do so. The nudity, the drugs, the bed-wrestling encounters with girls, these and others are no longer beyond him. Any taboo that had been a taboo isn't now. The imagination boggles at the possibilities but, for David, these exist, whether or not he indulges them.

And now the latest: women. Not just girls, teenagers, college students, but women—older women.

He digs them, according to at least one report. He digs them in a manner that no younger girl could possibly equal. For David Cassidy, older women are quite special, and they return to him all that he could ever want and ask from them.

Most of the time, after David tires of /continued on page 76
