

can't get him interested in anything at all."

"Let me have another try," David said, hoping this time he could do something.

"Oh, it's you agin," said Mike as David sat down next to his bed. David ignored the remark. "I hear you're still fed-up," he said, as kindly as he could.

"Look I know being in a car accident isn't very nice — in fact it's a terrible experience, but things could have turned out much worse. Lying there feeling sorry for yourself isn't going to do any good at all."

Mike didn't say anything and David got a bit braver. "It's pretty awful being in hospital. So why not try and get well quickly and then you can go home." Mike didn't say anything for a few minutes. "It's just that I was kinda fond of my brother and I was the one that wanted to go out for a drive that day. In a way I feel I'm responsible for what happened," he said in a sad voice.

"That's not the way to think about it," said David, knowing he would react in exactly the same situation. "It might so easily have happened at another time. Don't put the blame on yourself." David tried to carry on reassuring him for a few minutes and, when he left he hoped that in some small way he'd made Mike see some kind of sense.

That night David was alone. He felt so sad. He had his whole life — everything. But poor Mike, what sort of life would he have? Now his brother dead. How could life be so unfair?

It was a few days before David could return to hospital — he had heavy shooting schedules. The nurse met him with a big smile. "Oh, Mr. Cassidy," she said. "You've worked a miracle. Mike went home this morning a different boy. I don't know what you said, but he seemed to perk up so much after you came in the last time."

David grinned at her from ear to ear and nearly did a dance in the corridor. His confidence had returned.

"ALRIGHT ALRIGHT ALRIGHT"

Oh I've been thinking about my life

What's been wrong and what's been right

Some say that and some say this

Some say no and some say yes

Alright alright alright alright
Alright alright.

I don't know what's going on
But I know what's right from wrong

Too many heads too many minds
Too many wrongs and too many rights

Alright alright alright alright
Alright alright.

I hear you talking
Alright alright alright

I hear you talking
Alright alright alright.

Alright alright alright alright,
etc.

Oh I've been thinking about my life

What's been wrong and what's been right

Some say that and some say this

Some say no and some say yes

Alright alright alright alright
Alright alright.

I hear you talking
Alright alright alright

I hear you talking
Alright alright alright.

Alright to fade.

Words and Music by Jacques Dutronc, Jacques Lanzmann and Joe Strange © Rogers Music Ltd.

TAKE A LOOK INTO NEXT WEEK WITH US

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)

Don't take too much on yourself this week. Everyone deserves a little laziness now and then, and this is a good time for you to take it easy.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)

Someone new will be coming into your life in the very near future, so keep your eyes open, because they might slip off your grasp if you're not quick enough to mark. Don't be put off by competition.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)

Some unexpected problems may arise which will take up all of your attention, don't panic — if you keep your head they will straighten themselves out with a little help from someone near to you.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)

This is a good time for taking stock of your present position — romantic, moneywise, whatever — and deciding if any changes are needed. You may need to alter some of your ideas.

LEO (July 23 to August 23)

A rather depressing period seems to be coming to an end soon. Although you have been against you in the past, try about to start running your way, you'll be glad to hear. So make the most of it and enjoy yourself!

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)

You may be rather wrapped up in yourself at the moment, but take care not to neglect those around you, especially at home.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)

Your peace-making qualities may be called into use when you're asked to help out with someone else's problems. Don't take too much on yourself.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22)

Don't get too depressed this week, although the temptations are there, you may not believe it the way you're feeling, but things aren't quite as bad as they seem.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)

Romance will be uppermost in your mind at the moment. There will be some interesting developments in a situation which has been dragging on for a while.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)

Don't be too hasty to judge a friend, or accuse her of something you think she's been up to behind your back. Take time to check things out fully or you may be misled by a friend.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 18)

All things point to this being a really busy week for you, so get out and make the most of it because you may have to put in an extra effort and work in the weeks to come.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20)

You will be in a situation this week where you will have to choose between two pleasant alternatives. Both of them will be nice, but you'll only manage one.