

GENEROUS DAVID

We always knew that David was a generous person but he really proved it on his Euro-trip!

He was given a bottle of very expensive champagne to take home but instead of that he opened it on the plane and shared it with all his friends who were with him.

Lovely lad!!

THE LONG AND WINDING ROAD

Sad to think that dishy Simon Turner has been through some unhappy times in his life.

"I had one very unhappy love affair," he told us sadly. "I was split between two girls and it all went wrong. I ended up with neither. One of them really mattered to me and now, because of her, whenever I hear the Beatles' song, 'The Long And Winding Road', I just burst into tears. It's a fantastic song but I can't stand it."

RICKY READS

Ever wonder if your faves read all the letters you write to them? Well, one thing's for sure—Ricky Wilde does!

"I love getting fan mail, who wouldn't? Most of it's asking for information or pictures but some is more serious, telling me their troubles. I always write back, just to let them know I care."

"Some fans sent me a card with a design done in matches and cog-wheels stuck on it and then all painted silver. I thought that was really good!"

We think you're really good, Ricky.

Rick goes back to school

When Rick Springfield was last in England he was so busy he wouldn't do any concerts—except one.

And it wasn't a concert really... just an impromptu get-together with a few kids—at school.

But Rick—and the children—really enjoyed it—as you can see from this piccy.

BROTHERLY LOVE RACE ON!

Brotherly Love tell us that they changed their name from the Carrolls "because we only used to get work at Christmas!" They might've done better if they'd called themselves The Four Seasons, but there's already a group called that!!

By the way, Brother Mike used to be a professional racing driver. Can't decide whether that's more dangerous than pop...!!
