

No need to tell you that David Cassidy is one of the busiest pop stars in the world! From dawn till midnight he's on the go, in the film studios, recording studios, hotels, aeroplanes, cars, dressing rooms and concert halls—to name but a few places!

So when he gets a day off he guards and cherishes that day like nothing on earth! No one from his office dares phone him unless it's a matter of life and death! They know how precious these days are to him.

THIS is how David spends a typical day-off.

10.30 am:

It's a relief not to have to get up at six o'clock! On his days off David enjoys a good lie-in!

He has a quick shower and has a cup of coffee and sometimes some fruit juice for breakfast. He isn't usually hungry at this time.

PLAY TIME

11.00 am: He'll go out into his lovely garden and play with his English Setter, Bulls-Eye. There's quite a lot of land on David's estate so they can go playing for hours—which they sometimes do!

12.30 pm: David might call round to the second house on his estate where his good friend Sam Hyman lives. Then they'll walk over to David's house and knock up a quick lunch. They'll have a hamburger or a salad, depending on their mood.

2.30 pm: David sits down and reads a lot of his fan mail now! Even though his address is secret a lot of fans know where he lives so a lot is delivered to his home. The rest is forwarded from his fan club.

5.00 pm: David's very busy now, phoning round to all his friends to see who'd like to pop round to see him!

GREAT HOST

6.30 pm: David's a great host so he's busy preparing all kinds of goodies to give to his guests!

8.00 pm: The doorbell's ringing frantically as they all arrive one after another! Many have guitars and other portable instruments in their hands because they know the evening will end up with them playing and singing!

9.30 pm: Sure enough, they're all in the heart of a fabulous jam session. David's right in the middle of it all, singing his heart out!

NO TIME

11.30 pm: Now they're gradually leaving because some of them live up to 20 miles away. Mind you the roads in Los Angeles are so good it takes no time to get anywhere!

12.00 midnight: David's sleepy but happy after such a great evening. He stretches a bit then slowly makes his way along to his bedroom! However tired he is, he usually manages to keep his eyes open to read a magazine or a good book—but not for long! Goodnight, David!

A day in the life of: DAVID CASSIDY

David's days of rest are few and far between—here he is in a more familiar pose—smashing out a super song.
