I LOVE AN OSMOND

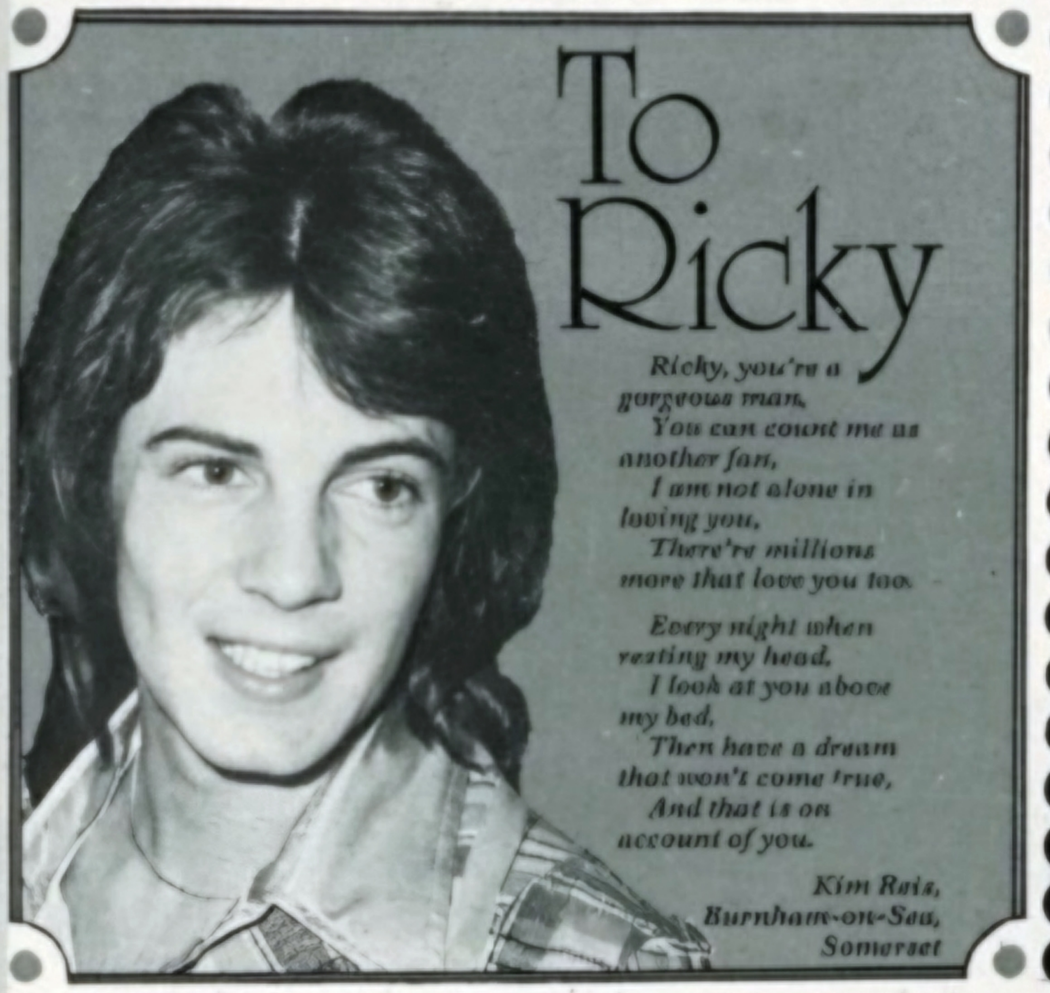

I love an Osmond,
Who's it to be?
As if they'd care
About little me.
If only I could get close
To this very special one
I could go home
content
'Cos my mission would be done.
I wouldn't mind any:
Alan, Jay, Merrill or Wayne
Or maybe little Jimmy
But Donny—that's why I'm insane!

Julie Webb, Kent

TO DAVID CASSIDY

I love you, Dave,
It's quite a craze,
To see you standing
On the stage.
I'll never meet you,
But I don't care
I've pictures of you
EVERYWHERE!

Gail Turner,
Norwich

To Ricky

Ricky, you're a gorgeous man,
You can count me as another fan,
I am not alone in loving you,
There're millions more that love you too.

Every night when resting my head,
I look at you above my bed,
Then have a dream that won't come true,
And that is on account of you.

Kim Rais,
Burnham-on-Sea,
Somerset

What a week! Scott's fallen in love—with a tiny white kitten! He brought it into the office and we'll give you one guess what he called it—Corky! He kept rushing down to the canteen to get milk for his new love but by the end of the day Corky had managed to chew his way through a pair of Sue's gloves! Was she angry! Corky the kitten has now left our office forever and is being looked after by—guess who?—Scott's mum! But despite chewed-up gloves and saucers of milk we've somehow managed to produce a super Music Star!
